The Little Miss and Mister Old Time Festival judging was the main attraction of Wednesday's activities in Laurelville. The five-day festival is sponsored annually by the Laurelville Fire Department.

The youngsters were introduced by Master of Ceremonies Dalton DeLong and chosen by a panel of four judges. They were divided into four categories, including Little Miss and Mister, ages three through five and Junior Miss and Mister, ages six through eight. There was one winner and one attendant chosen from each group.

The winner of the Little Miss competition is Lori Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shaw. Her attendant is Holly Whitcraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Whitcraft.

Little Mister Old Time Festival is represented by Billie Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss. Attendant for this group is Gary Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hopkins.

The reign of Junior Miss is held by Dawn Renee Hartranft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hartranft. Her attendant is Denise Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barton.

Billy Cramblit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cramblit was chosen as Mister Old Time Festival. His attendant is Bryan Creager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Creager. All the children live in Laurelville.

These youngsters will ride on a float in their honor in the Old Time Festival parade Saturday afternoon.

The highlight of today's activities will be the judging and crowning of the queen of the festival.

A fish fry and rides on one of the Laurelville fire trucks are continuing events during the five days of festivities.

LIEUTENANT Glen M. Jones has been appointed provisional captain of the Circleville Fire Department and Dan Grant to the position of lieutenant it was announced today by Fire Chief Mike Brown.

Jones will serve as captain until a civil service examination can be held to establish a priority list for the position created this year by city council.

As provisional captain, Jones will be second in command to Brown, assisting him with administrative duties and serving as a relief shift supervisor. He has been a member of the fire department nearly 20 years.

Dan Grant has been a member of the fire department for five years and was appointed to the position of lieutenant from the eligibility list. He took and passed the civil service test for lieutenant a year ago.

Spaceships Linked

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With a shout of "We have succeeded!" Apollo and Soyuz astronauts linked up in space today in the first meeting of Americans and Russians high above the globe.

The two ships came together 140 miles above the earth over Europe, climaxing two days of orbital pursuit during which astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton skillfully guided Apollo as the hunter craft.

"We'll hug them like friendly bears," Soviet commander Alexei Leonov said before the astronauts and cosmonauts embarked Tuesday on the first international mission of space detente.

About three hours after docking, Leonov and Stafford, the two commanders, scheduled the long-awaited "handshake in space" in a connecting tunnel between the two craft.

It will be a symbolic and emotional moment for these two space veterans who have become fast friends during two years of training.

They'll exchange greetings and their nation's flags and Leonov is to present Stafford with a United Nations flag to carry back to earth. Stafford and Slayton then move into the Soyuz for the first of four crew transfers planned in the two days of linkup.

Malpractice Plan Faces Floor Debate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A revamped medical malpractice bill headed into floor debate in the Senate today as lawmakers sought agreements on other major issues standing in the way of summer adjournment.

The legislature's Democratic majority leaders, at the same time, called for stepped up committee action on the state's new equal yield school foundation formula. It is designed to equalize state aid to Ohio's more than 600 school districts.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, announced Democratic decisions to try to override next week, probably Wednesday, a series of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' line item vetoes in the state's $10.6 billion, two-year appropriations bill.

One other major item was finalized Wednesday as the House completed passage of a bill that extends state revenue bonding authority to cover electrical utilities' construction projects. Such projects would have to have as one major goal the control of pollution or the disposal of solid waste.

That proposal, by Sen. Paul L. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, implements a constitutional amendment approved by voters in November 1974. The final House vote was 89-1 on a joint conference committee report approved earlier by the Senate. The bill now goes to the governor.

The medical malpractice bill, hailed by sponsors as one that could avert a major health care crisis in Ohio, faced numerous amendments on the floor, despite a batch of earlier Senate changes almost certain to send it back to the House. Ultimately, it will go to a joint conference committee, leaders predicted.

Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton, triggered the latest part of the controversy with a successful amendment in committee that spells out a patients "bill of rights" to assure them, he said, of equal treatment in the courts. "So far in this bill, we've only worried about the doctors and insurance companies. This is to protect the patient," Headley said.

The cosmonauts had decorated their cabin with welcome messages for their American visitors.

During the morning the Apollo astronauts steered their ship through five course corrections as they gradually and smoothly moved in on the Soyuz.

When the spacemen awakened this morning they were more than 500 miles apart, but the Apollo maneuvers closed the gap between the American spacecraft and Soyuz.

Nearly four hours before the planned latchup, the astronauts spotted the Soyuz as a speck in the sky and established radio contact with the Russian spacemen.

"Hello, Apollo," cosmonaut Valeri Kubasov said as the spaceships entered communications range for the first time, some 300 miles apart.

Kubasov spoke in English and received this reply in Russian from one of the astronauts: "Good morning, Valeri."

The Russian commander, Alexei Leonov, added a "good morning" and the two craft began a series of radio checks.

Minutes earlier, astronaut Vance D. Brand reported the first sighting of the Soyuz.

"It's just a speck right now," he said. "It's hard to distinguish from a star."

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Donald K. Slayton and Brand were guiding their craft to a scheduled latchup with Soyuz at 12:15 p.m. EDT 140 miles above West Germany.

They successfully completed two of five planned separate engine firings in the final pursuit of Soyuz, which is serving as the target vehicle for the more sophisticated and maneuverable Apollo.

The first firing was executed at 8:51 a.m. and the second at 9:35 a.m.

The cosmonauts planned a friendly welcome for Stafford and Slayton, set to visit the Soyuz this afternoon after the docking.

"We'll hug them like friendly bears," Leonov said before the astronauts embarked Tuesday on this first international mission of space detente.

"We have hung the slogans around here — welcome aboard Soyuz and other types of greetings," Leonov told Moscow Mission Control.

"What about the tube of borscht?" a ground controller asked.

"Yes, we've prepared it," came the reply.

A caution warning alarm awakened the astronauts nearly an hour before schedule early this morning. The alarm repeated several more times but Houston Mission Control theorized there was no problem and that the warning was sounded by transient electrical signals. One controller termed it a nuisance alarm and advised the astronauts: "We believe you are getting false alarms."

PICCA To Begin Rural Bus Routes Monday

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

Rural transportation, a vital necessity to Pickaway County will become a reality Monday, according to Sam Dettra, Pickaway County Community Action Administrator.

A 1975 15-passenger van has been purchased to provide transportation to and from Circleville for persons, young and old, who have no other means of access to the city.

Driver and coordinator of the van is Omer Abner. He will operate two routes a day, four days a week. A 50-cent donation will provide the round trip, but anyone unable to make the donation will not be denied the ride.

"A donation will not be charged the week of July 21-24," adds Dettra.

The present routes are temporary until PICCA workers can establish the necessity of each route.

All the person has to do to ride the bus is to be at the particular pickup point at the specified time. The rider will then be brought to Memorial Hall, where he or she will also meet for the return trip.

A person can be picked up at his residence as long as it is on the particular route, but he must wait at the end of his driveway. The bus will not drive back a lane to pick up passengers.

At present transportation will not be provided on Friday.

MONDAY

Route 1 — Pickup: The bus will leave Memorial Hall 8:30 a.m. and travel west on Route 56 arriving at Pherson 8:44 a.m. and Five Points, 8:53 a.m.; continuing northwest on the Williamsport-Palestine Road the bus will arrive in Era, 9:07 a.m.; north on Route 62 to Circleville-London-Northern Road, southeast to Clark Lake at 9:30 a.m., Derby at 9:40 a.m. and Darbyville at 9:55. The bus will arrive at Memorial Hall at 10:21 a.m.

Route 1 — Return: The bus will leave Memorial Hall at 1:20 p.m. traveling the same route as the pickup. The bus will make only two-minute stopovers instead of the regular four-minute stops.

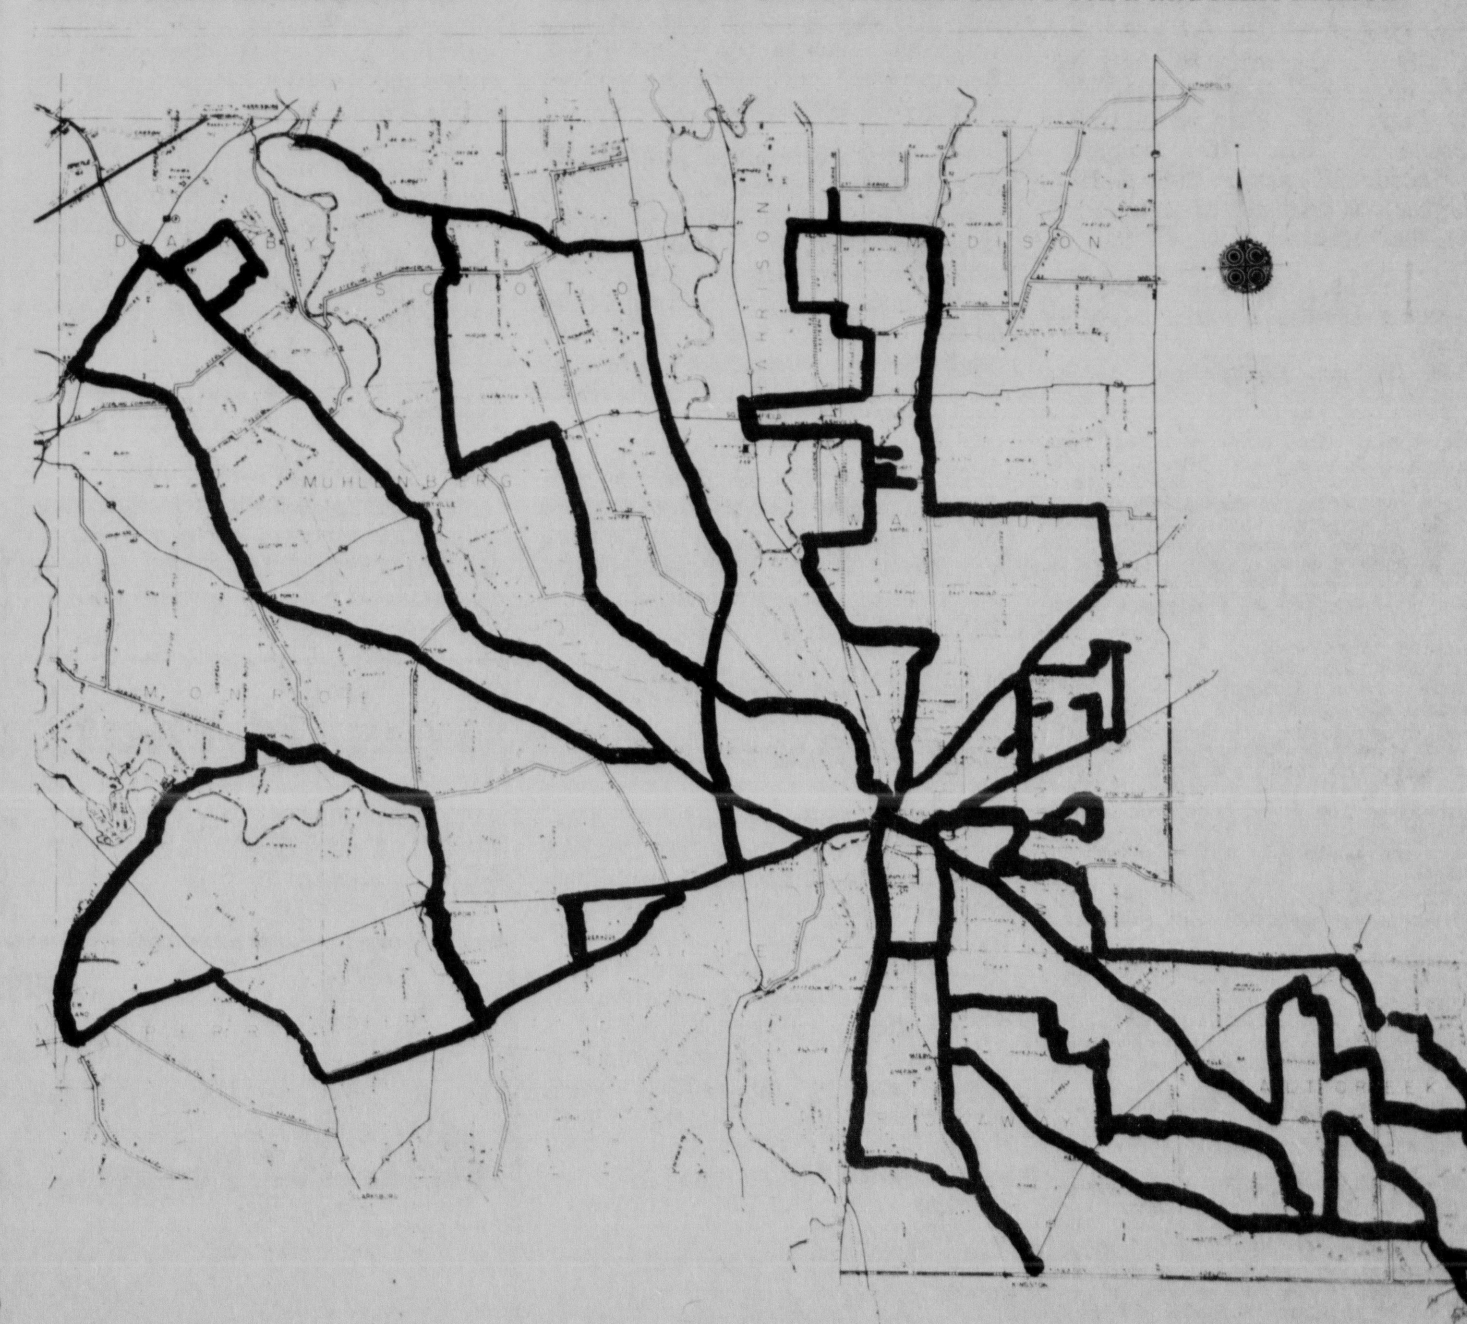

Route 2 — Pickup: leave Memorial Hall, 10:27 a.m., traveling northwest on Circleville-Florence Chapel Road arriving in Robtown at 10:50 a.m.; left on Route 316 to Darbyville-Columbus Road arriving in Matville at 11:03; traveling north to Route 762, west on 762 arriving in Orient at 11:13 and back to Commercial Point at 11:30; south on Route 104 to the Caraval Manor Trailer Park at 11:49; Fox at noon and Shady Acre Trailer Park, 12:06, arriving at Memorial Hall at 12:17.

GRAND OPENING—Jim Kuster, left, owner of Jim's Super Duper and Bob Blakey, right, Flickinger Company of Columbus, cut the ribbon starting Grand Opening Ceremonies, which began 10 a.m. Wednesday. Approximately 100 persons were on hand to watch the official opening of the store. The Grand Opening will continue through Saturday with the first 100 persons to shop at the store each day receiving 200 trading stamps. Flickinger is the food supplier for Jim's Super Duper.

Communications Workers Ratify Contract With GTE

MARION — Ratification of a new three-year contract by the Communications Workers of America was announced jointly today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio and union officials.

The new agreement provides for wage increases and improved fringe benefits. Officials said it was the largest "package" bargained in the history of negotiations between the company and the union.

Cost to the company over the three-year period will be over $6.6 million. Voting on ratification of the contract took place last Sunday and Monday. Nine locals around the state involving 2,359 employees are represented by the CWA.

Wage increases per employee will average $1.16 an hour over the three-year period. Increases are to be effective today (July 16) and Jan. 18 and July 18, 1976 and Jan. 16 and July 17, 1977.

The July, 1977 increase also provides for a cost of living adjustment. It calls for a three per cent across the board boost plus a maximum five per cent hike based on the consumer price index.

An additional holiday—the day after Thanksgiving—was added, boosting the number of paid holidays per year to 10.

Under the new contract employees will get four weeks of vacation annually after 17 years of service. Service requirement previously was 18 years.

Also provided was a 25 per cent increase in the employee pension plan. And, effective Jan. 1, pensions will be 100 per cent vested after 10 years of service.

The rate for night premium hours was increased to 30 cents an hour for all employees. Previous rates ranged from 22- to 30- cents hourly, depending on tour and job classification.

The $6.6 million package provides for an average of $1.35 an hour per employee, or 30.5 per cent, including benefits. Percentage increase of wages and benefits the first year is approximately 13 per cent.

Negotiations between the CWA and the company started June 17 and tentative agreement was reached July 9. The existing two-year contract expires at midnight tonight (July 16, 1975), after which the new pact takes effect. Expiration date of the new contract is July 16, 1978.

Spaceships

tures of their activities as the spaceships drew closer together high in space.

Leonov and Kubasov took viewers on a tour of their cabin and pointed out the table where astronauts and cosmonauts will eat joint meals and hold discussions.

"Everything on board is in order," Kubasov reported. "We have gotten used to working in weightlessness and you can guess by our faces that we are."

The Apollo telecast showed the astronauts at work and also featured some out-the-window shots of the earth and clouds.

Over Russia, Stafford remarked: "They have a forest fire on top of a mountain down there. You can sure see it."

Leonov's "bear hug" comes about three hours after the linkup when he and the American commander, Stafford, meet in a connecting tunnel between the spaceships and Stafford and Slayton then move into Soyuz.

They are to exchange their nation's flags, and Leonov is to present Stafford with a United Nations flag to carry back to earth.

This and much of the activity during two days of linkup will be televised to earth, giving millions around the world a ringside seat to an event which the five spacemen hope will enhance detente and lead to future cooperative space missions by many nations.

Three more crew exchanges are planned Friday, with Brand, Slayton and Valeri Kubasov each having at least one chance to visit the other country's ship. Stafford and Leonov also will make another trip through the connecting tunnel that day.

They will conduct joint medical, metals melting and scientific experiments, share meals and exchange personal gifts before holding a televised news conference Friday.

The two ships will disengage Saturday and then will attempt a second docking, with Soyuz serving as the acting partner. They will then go their separate ways and Soyuz will return to earth Monday.

Stafford, Brand and Slayton will remain aloft three more days, until next Thursday, to conduct additional experiments, mainly in earth observations and astronomy.

Both spaceships on Wednesday successfully executed maneuvers to set up the final docking sequence.

Apollo slightly adjusted its course into an orbit ranging from 109 to 120 miles high. In the lower orbit, the astronauts required less time to circle the globe and gradually gained on their Russian target as the two ships raced through space at 17,400 miles an hour.

When Apollo was launched Tuesday it started out 4,410 miles behind Soyuz. When the astronauts retired Wednesday night the gap had been closed to about 1,500 miles.

During the day Wednesday both astronauts and cosmonauts became spaceage repairmen, using a screwdriver and band-aids.

Brand wielded a screwdriver to help remove a docking mechanism that had lodged in the tunnel that will connect the two spaceships. It was a simple operation that required less than an hour.

Had the obstructing mechanism not been removed, the spacemen would not be able to transfer between the crafts.

Aboard Soyuz, Leonov and Kubasov wrestled with a cranky television camera which failed shortly after launch. Russian flight controllers said a camera cable needed to be insulated and Kubasov asked:

"Can we use band-aids from our medical kit to insulate the end of the cable?"

"Yes, Valeri, you can do it," replied a ground controller. Their inventiveness solved the problem.

Traffic Accidents Injure 4 Persons

POLICE ASSIST—Circleville City Policemen Ron Thompson, right and Jim Francis, left, assist in directing traffic, while Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities investigate a two-car accident which occurred on North Court Street, 1:40 p.m. Wednesday injuring two persons. Deputy J. Philip Brown cited Leah N. Ott, 37, 587 Mapleview Ave., for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Pickaway County Sheriff's

Authorities investigated two traffic accidents which resulted in four injuries and one citation.

Circleville City Police assisted Deputy J. Philip Brown with a two-car accident, which occurred 1:40 Wednesday on North Court Street near the Second National Bank Branch.

Frank E. Brooks, 49, Chillicothe, was stopped in northbound traffic on Court Street when a car driven by Leah M. Ott, 37, 587 Mapleview Ave., failed to stop, striking the rear of the Brooks vehicle.

Mrs. Ott and a passenger Renne D. Ott, 8, were both treated and released from Berger Hospital for abrasions to the forehead.

Deputy Brown cited Mrs. Ott for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Two persons received injuries when the motorcycle they were riding struck and killed a dog, 8:50 p.m. Wednesday on Judas Road.

According to the report taken by Deputy Dan Dewey, Michael E. Davis, 36, Chillicothe, was traveling north on Judas Road rounding a curve when the dog ran into the path of his cycle.

Davis attempted to stop, but still struck the dog and then lost control of the cycle. The vehicle fell onto its left side and continued sliding on the roadway.

Both Davis and a passenger, Nayde D. Davis, 15, Chillicothe, were thrown from the bike.

Davis received a broken right shoulder and multiple abrasions to the arms, shoulder and back.

Nayde E. Davis received multiple abrasions to the left hand, elbow and leg.

They were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Grange News

Saltcreek Valley Grange met Tuesday evening in the Grange Hall in Tarlton. Worthy Master, Francis Fraunfelder, conducted the business meeting and presented the program entitled "Hints and Advice". He read several hints from The Mother Earth News Almanac and closed with a poem, "Comparison".

During the business portion, plans were finalized for activities at the county fair. The Grange picnic will be August 19 at the Loring Hills' home in Kingston. The group is to serve a farm sale lunch in August and contributions were given to the Volunteer Service Council of Columbus State Hospital and an appeal from a Knox County Grange.

Doris Edwards, women's activities chairman, announced the county-wide camp-out at Friendly Hills Grange Camp Labor Day weekend. Wayne Cryder, Legislative Agent, brought an article from a 1987 newspaper on the Lancaster-Hamden railroad.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Timmons, Virgil Timmons and Loring Hill.

Computer Court Transcripts Being Planned At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A new system using computers to reproduce court transcripts should save time and money, according to Hamilton County Common Pleas Court officials, who are enthusiastic about the project.

Assistant Court Administrator Roger McKenzie said the system, inaugurated this week, will save court costs as well as speed the appeals process. In use for the first time in any state court in the nation, the system presently is on an experimental basis, McKenzie said.

The project is funded by a $21,334 grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and is designed to reduce the transcript reproduction time from about 12 weeks to six to 10 days.

Magnetic cassette tapes are used to record the court proceedings typed by the court reporter on a stenotype machine. The computer then takes the tapes and produces printed transcripts of the proceedings.

The computer can record 100 pages of transcript material in less than two minutes and print a page of transcript in less than a second, at a rate of 1,000 lines a minute.

"The reporter translates the spoken word into an artificial language which then must be re-translated back into English," said Fred Koomanoff, president of the company that developed the system.

A special computerized dictionary that was developed to suit individual court reporter styles also can be used as a reference point in case of misunderstanding.

Court Administrator Norman E. Zoller said the system "may have the most far-reaching potential of anything I have seen since I came here."

Zoller added that during appeals, judges could use a scanner to locate a section in question, thereby not having to search through hundreds of pages of testimony.

Third EMT Class Starts Training

Members of the Emergency Medical Team's third training class began their first three-hour session this week with a goal of completing the required 66-hour basic victim care course.

The three hour class session are being held Tuesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. in General Telephone Co. facility on Route 22. Instructor is Ralph Scott of Ross County who also provided instruction to the first and second classes.

The Emergency Medical Team is currently operating from noon to midnight daily with three trained technicians on duty to respond immediately to emergency situations with the squad vehicle.

Circleville city and Circleville Twp. residents who need emergency treatment may call the City Police, the sheriff's Department, or the telephone company operator to have the squad dispatched.

During the first two weeks of operation, an average of slightly over one emergency run per day was made.

When the training of the third class is completed, approximately 70 persons will have the basic victim care certification needed to provide emergency service.

Of these, several are Pickaway Twp. and Harrison Twp. volunteer firemen.

A Page Of Opinion

Potential UN Fireworks

Unless the ongoing course of events somehow is changed, this summer could be a fateful one for the United Nations. The thrust toward a climax of some kind is being provided by the conglomerate of mostly small members who usually refer to themselves as "unaligned" or "third world" powers.

In fact, this group, which includes more than half the membership, frequently meshes its interests with those of the communist bloc. The issue which could bring the UN to a crisis within the next several months is the Middle East.

A meeting of foreign ministers from 75 of the "third world" countries will be held in Peru in late August to consider a call to expel Israel from the UN because it occupies Arab territory taken in the 1967 war. Depending upon the action taken at this meeting, the issue could be one of the main ones confronting the General Assembly when it convenes in September.

Several American officials, including the new UN ambassador, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, have warned that a successful Israel expulsion move could cause the U.S. to withdraw its presence and financial support from the General Assembly.

When The Balloon Went Up

RENO — In case you've never hit a tree while riding in a hot air balloon, don't fret. You wouldn't like it. The bag that was carrying my pilot and me pranged the top of one of the 100-foot mountain pines that spoke the slopes of Mt. Rose, which looks down on beautiful Lake Tahoe. There isn't much time to admire the scenery under such circumstances.

The limbs and spurs and needles of the tree embraced us like an angry version of the Jolly Green Giant and shook the daylight out of this greenhorn passenger. The weight of the wicker basket pulled us down through the rugged foliage for a time. Sharp little broken limbs and needles stuck their points through the webbing of the wicker balloon basket.

Though cut, I was vaguely relieved. The farther we dropped down through the tree, I figured like a nut, the slower would be the rate of descent because the heavier limbs would cushion the fall. And if we ever stopped, well, I could get out of the basket, jump for a likely-looking limb, and then climb down the trunk of the tree to the ground.

But it turned out that there isn't enough Tarzan in me. A peek downward showed that we were still 50 or 60 feet above the sloping mountainside. Simultaneously Randy, the young pilot, revealed another plan. He was on his feet, tearing away at the smothering branches of the Angry Green Giant, and relighting the fire that heated the air in the torn balloon.

These free balloons are about as agile as a beached whale. But to my consternation our bag responded to Randy's propane flame thrower. The basket stopped falling through the limbs, and then it was wrenched loose by the upward thrust of the bag. Suddenly, miraculously, we were free again... free as a free balloon. I had seen a ski resort a couple of miles ahead to the left of us and higher. Surely, with all that heat belching into the bag we could get up in that general vicinity and land, let's say, on a nice soft haystack or cushioned barstool.

My dreams collapsed almost immediately.

"Get ready!" Randy shouted.

"We're going to hit."

I learned later that what happened was that an errant wind took charge of the bag, sped us across a road, and slammed us against a rocky embankment that reaches up from the road.

The main memory I have after we hit like a ton of bricks is of being bounced around on the cluttered floor of the basket like a fat pea in big maraca.

"Did your whole life pass before your eyes?" some master of the cliché asked later. I had been reading about such a phenomenon. Well, the whole of my life. Now I know that's a lot of rubbish. There's not time for any such contemplation. All you want to know is if your back is broken and, if not, who is sticking a knife in it. You want to know also when you'll ever stop bouncing.

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

I sidled to the open end of the basket and sat there for what seemed a long time, but really wasn't. A motorist who had witnessed the massive prat-fall suddenly appeared in view. He had clambered up through the rough embankment. Randy was lifting me up. The older man said, "Don't move him." But I felt better. I could hold on now to the railing of the basket.

Now there were others around, members of Randy's ground crew who had tried to keep up with us as much as the roads and winds would permit, a state trooper who had passed by just before landing, and in 10 or 15 minutes an ambulance from Washoe Medical Center, Reno.

The problem now was to get down the embankment to the road. It was only 50 feet below the point where we hit, but it was too steep, too rocky, too filled with iron wood. So the ambulance interns and Randy started leading me in a roundabout way. I couldn't make it. They thought of rolling me in blankets like a hot dog and lowering me to the road by rope. But one of the internists overruled and called for a stretcher. I was strapped to it and what seemed like a half a dozen guys, some stumbling and falling, got me to the road and its ambulance.

"Geez, he's top-heavy," I remember one guy saying.

The fine Washoe Medical Center gave me a lot of tests, put in traction, and hung a trapeze over my head, to help me get in and out and turn over.

The trapeze seemed appropriate. Only a monkey would go in for hot air ballooning, at my age.

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe that relative to most other nations, the United States has one of the lowest rates of consumer price inflation?

Anyone concerned with his or her own pocketbook, and that includes everyone, tends to localize the issue of inflation. Understandably, each person feels he or she is being hit the hardest.

The latest figures from the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development show that of 24 trading nations, the United States had the fourth lowest inflation rate for the 12 months through May.

The spectacular rise in oil prices is perhaps the major force behind the upward thrust in prices, but there are many other reasons too, including higher consumer expectations, rising wage demands and deficit spending.

The OECD lists the United States inflation rate at 9.5 per cent, leaving only Germany, at 6.1 per cent, Switzerland, at 8.2, and Austria, at 8.6, in better shape.

Some of the rates would be considered shocking by U.S. standards, not that 9.5 per cent in itself isn't shocking. In the United Kingdom, for example, the rate was 25 per cent, and in Ireland 24.5 per cent.

Fearing an economic disaster, the British now are seeking to limit pay and dividend increase to 10 per cent for the next 12 months, hopeful of cutting the rate to 10 per cent or so by this time next year.

Even 10 per cent cannot be considered normal by almost any definition. Still, it appears to be in a respectable range when compared with the 47.4 per cent inflation rate in Iceland, the 19.7 per cent in Italy, and the 17.2 per cent rate in Australia.

One reason for high inflation rates are big government budgets which, to a degree, merely reflect a more basic reason: Demands by people for more governmental services.

This symptom has been a particular irritant to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which for years has tried to point out that you can't get any more out of the government than you're willing to put into it.

The way to riches, the chamber says, is to produce — to make a bigger pie so that everyone can have a bigger piece without cutting into the other's section. And that pie, it says, is made by private enterprise.

Nevertheless, to the chamber's chagrin, there seems to be an inexorable trend toward bigger government, with its resultant huge budgets and sometimes big budget deficits too.

Economy Shows Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest government statistics show the economy has apparently started what is widely expected to be a long climb out of its deepest recession since World War II.

The first increase in nine months in the output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities was reported Tuesday and administration economists called it encouraging but not surprising.

The Federal Reserve Board said its index of industrial production advanced four-tenths of 1 per cent in June, recording the biggest increase since the six-tenths of 1 per cent rise in May 1974.

While not conclusive in itself, "in conjunction with other evidence we are seeing, it is pretty clear evidence the economy is starting to recover," said James L. Pate, top economist of the Commerce Department.

That other evidence includes a rising volume of retail sales, a record cut during May in the business inventories which must be reduced before production picks up and gradual strengthening in the vital auto industry.

Hoosier Jobless Claims Increase

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The number of claims for Indiana unemployment aid increased almost 20,000 last week, but officials said there was no cause for alarm.

Claims totaled 172,817. The Employment Security Division blamed the boost on return to a full work week after the July 4 holiday, start of a new quarter for computing wage credits and seasonal layoffs.

"There really hasn't been all that much change," said David N. Selby, IESD public information officer. He said statistics continue to indicate a slow but steady improvement in the Indiana job market.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Two of my older sisters developed thyroid trouble after they were married. I'm contemplating marriage and I wonder if I, too, will have this trouble.

Miss D. E., Tex.

Dear Miss E.: I doubt that there is any relationship between marriage and overactivity of the thyroid gland.

A special type of thyroid disorder produces an extra quantity of the thyroid hormone. There may be enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck known as a "goiter."

Associated with such a condition is a tendency towards marked perspiration, nervousness and bouts of emotional instability.

Crying without marked provocation, loss of weight and rapid heartbeat are only a few of the symptoms which direct the doctor's attention to the possibility that a thyroid condition exists.

A group of blood tests, particularly the proteinbound iodine (PBI) test, can readily determine if a thyroid disturbance exists.

This would give you the reassurance you need and remove the anxiety you seem to suffer.

The strides in the treatment of thyroid disease have been enormous. Radioactive drugs and anti-thyroid medication have, in recent years, spared people with overactive thyroids the need for the surgery that once was the only means to control it.

Are hunger pains always a symptom of ulcers?

Mr. J. C., Conn.

Dear Mr. C.: Hunger pains occur with many other conditions. Therefore they cannot be used for the self-diagnosis of a chronic ulcer.

Spasms of the muscles of the stomach, especially when it is empty, produce the gnawing sensation called "hunger pains."

A pattern of hunger pains that are relieved by food may suggest to the doctor the possibility that a stomach ulcer or a duodenal ulcer may exist. When this is suspected, X-rays of the stomach can readily reveal the absence or presence of an ulcer.

The cycle of hunger pain relieved by food or milk is the reason why frequent meals of a bland diet, free of alcohol or coffee, are recommended.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . The employment of the handicapped can almost always be considered more gainful to the employer than to the employee. The handicapped in general make reliable, diligent and responsible workers.

Kissinger Sees U.N. Force Staying

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) —

Declaring it urgent that an interim agreement be reached in the Middle East, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says it is his impression United Nations peacekeeping forces might be able to remain despite Egypt's refusal to extend their mandate.

Kissinger made the statement Tuesday after Egypt declared it will reject any extension of the U.N. mandate in the Sinai when it expires July 24.

Kissinger is expected to discuss developments in the Middle East further during a news conference here today.

Kissinger told newsmen at Minneapolis Tuesday that he had not been officially notified of Egypt's decision, but he declared:

"This underlines the problem and the urgency of the need for some interim solution. We'll have to see if they (the Egyptians) ask for removal of the UNEF (United Nations Emergency Force) or simply are not renewing its mandate."

Asked whether he was saying it was his impression that an end to the mandate might not necessarily mean the removal of U.N. troops on July 24, Kissinger replied, "Yes, it is my impression."

He told newsmen that changing U.S. reconnaissance flights over the Sinai on behalf of both Israel and Egypt into "a more permanent warning system" has been informally raised in Mideast negotiations.

However, Kissinger said "there is no possibility of committing American forces as a buffer" between Israel and Egypt. "I want to make it clear that nothing is being proposed about introducing American military involvement in the Middle East."

On other matters, Kissinger told newsmen Tuesday:

"We have not said exactly what we shall do" if Israel is expelled from the U.N. General Assembly, "but it would affect the American participation in the activities of that body. To what extent or how remains to be seen. We are trying to prevent the situation from happening."

"I have the impression there will be a Soviet grain deal" with the United States involving substantial amounts of grain, but that any such deal would be unlikely to include government credits. "What the exact limit (on the amount of grain) would be has not been decided ..."

—Under "certain circumstances," Panama could become a focal point of a nationalistic guerrilla operation that might unify all of Latin America against the United States. Because of this, the United States is emphasizing negotiations to remove "the particularly grating aspects" of its canal arrangements with Panama.

Liquor Liter On The Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The familiar half-pint of booze, often smuggled in the American hip pocket, will be a thing of the past under a new Treasury Department plan.

In fact, in the spirit of metric conversion, the department proposes to do away with the halfpint, pint, fifth, quart and other measures familiar to U.S. drinkers.

The elixir itself isn't threatened, just the standard size bottles it comes in. Treasury is asking drinkers of liquor to join wine lovers in the forefront of the United States' conversion to the metric system.

The department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms formally proposed on Tuesday that distilled spirits sold in the United States be packaged in six standard size metric bottles by Jan. 1, 1979.

The changeover would begin next Jan. 1 with both metric and non-metric bottles in use during the interim period.

There are eight bottle sizes under consideration, with hearings scheduled for Sept. 10 in Washington on the change.

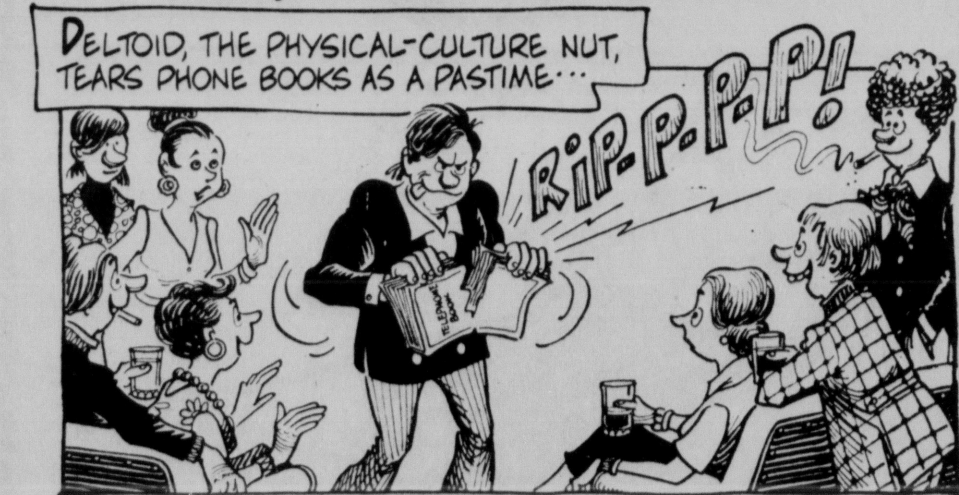

Lukens Supports Ronald Reagan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Donald Lukens denied Tuesday night reports he has been named to head Ronald Reagan's Ohio campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

But he acknowledged he backs the former California governor's effort and plans to play an active role in the campaign.

"I am involved, but not in any official structure," the Middletown Republican said. He described himself as a "freelance agent, nationwide" for Reagan.

Potential UN Fireworks

Unless the ongoing course of events somehow is changed, this summer could be a fateful one for the United Nations. The thrust toward a climax of some kind is being provided by the conglomerate of mostly small members who usually refer to themselves as "unaligned" or "third world" powers.

In fact, this group, which includes more than half the membership, frequently meshes its interests with those of the communist bloc. The issue which could bring the UN to a crisis within the next several months is the Middle East.

A meeting of foreign ministers from 75 of the "third world" countries will be held in Peru in late August to consider a call to expel Israel from the UN because it occupies Arab territory taken in the 1967 war. Depending upon the action taken at this meeting, the issue could be one of the main ones confronting the General Assembly when it convenes in September.

Several American officials, including the new UN ambassador, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, have warned that a successful Israel expulsion move could cause the U.S. to withdraw its presence and financial support from the General Assembly.

Are hunger pains always a symptom of ulcers?

Mr. J. C., Conn.

Hunger pains occur with many other conditions. Therefore they cannot be used for the self-diagnosis of a chronic ulcer.

Spasms of the muscles of the stomach, especially when it is empty, produce the gnawing sensation called "hunger pains."

A pattern of hunger pains that are relieved by food may suggest to the doctor the possibility that a stomach ulcer or a duodenal ulcer may exist. When this is suspected, X-rays of the stomach can readily reveal the absence or presence of an ulcer.

The cycle of hunger pain relieved by food or milk is the reason why frequent meals of a bland diet, free of alcohol or coffee, are recommended.

Liquor Liter On The Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The familiar half-pint of booze, often snuggled in the American hip pocket, will be a thing of the past under a new Treasury Department plan.

In fact, in the spirit of metric conversion, the department proposes to do away with the halfpint, pint, fifth, quart and other measures familiar to U.S. drinkers.

The elixir itself isn't threatened, just the standard size bottles it comes in. Treasury is asking drinkers of liquor to join wine lovers in the forefront of the United States' conversion to the metric system.

The department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms formally proposed on Tuesday that distilled spirits sold in the United States be packaged in six standard size metric bottles by Jan. 1, 1979.

The changeover would begin next Jan. 1 with both metric and non-metric bottles in use during the interim period.

A changeover of wine bottles to metric sizes already is under way, also to be completed in 1979.

There are eight bottle sizes under consideration, with hearings scheduled for Sept. 10 in Washington on the change.

Lukens Supports Ronald Reagan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Donald Lukens denied Tuesday night reports he has been named to head Ronald Reagan's Ohio campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

But he acknowledged he backs the former California governor's effort and plans to play an active role in the campaign.

"I am involved, but not in any official structure," the Middletown Republican said. He described himself as a "freelance agent, nationwide" for Reagan.

Men Without Country Make Homes In Pickaway County

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

The "cream of the crop" of the Cambodian Khmer Air Force lost their country last month to the communist-dominated Khmer Rouge faction while training with Rickenbacker Air Force base reserve personnel to defend it.

That's tragic enough.

But the five men, who have not heard from their loved ones since coming to this country a little less than a year ago, now face condemnation from the nation they have grown to love.

Four of the five live in Pickaway County.

Two are attempting to "Make it" on their own, living jointly at Gregory Trailer Court.

And the other two are living with "sponsor" families, couples who grew to love the men through their association with them during the training process.

Businessmen or other concerned citizens who would like to help Sareth and the other Cambodian refugees find work are asked to call the Chiappettas at 474-7033.

In this time of record unemployment compensation benefits, they get nothing; in this time of joblessness, they seek jobs; and, while these two combine to create an age of apathy, the refugees hunger for work.

The Cambodian refugees are: Col. Thank Duch, who holds a masters degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Arts and Mechanics at Phnom Penh. He is living in southern Franklin County and has a job as an auto mechanic.

Capt. Ngau Kim San and Sgt. Loewung Sreng live together at Gregory Trailer Court. San is seeking a job and Sreng works at a truck stop.

Sgt. Chea Cheng lives with Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Idlett at their Route 1, Ashville home, until he is able to support himself.

And Sgt. Nhuong Sareth lives under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chiappetta, Route 5.

Sareth, his given name, is the subject of this article, in which he relates his introduction to the United States and his impressions of our country.

The other men will be similarly interviewed in subsequent stories.

Sareth and his four companions were hand-picked by the Khmer government to undergo training here in the maintenance of U.S.-built C123 aircraft, which Cambodia had acquired.

The two officers left their homeland May, 1974, to attend a 15-week English language course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, and a 21-week course in jet engine mechanics at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

The three NCOs were invited by the United States to leave their homes last October for eight-weeks of language training and 11 weeks of jet engine mechanics school before joining the officers March 19 for practical training at Rickenbacker.

They were assigned to Rickenbacker because the base has only C123s in America, and were placed under the guidance of the 302nd Tactical Airlift Wing, a group composed of reserve and civilian government service personnel.

About midway through their training, they became men without a country when the Viet Cong joined forces with Khmer communists to form the Khmer Rouge which overthrew the nationalist party.

Given initial parole status by the U.S. Immigration Department, the men learned that they had until June 30 to make a decision.

They could return, at government expense, to a neutral country from where they could make their own journey back to Cambodia. "But that would have been instant death," said Sareth, who explained that the Khmer Rouge was executing all returning Khmer military personnel.

They could have been placed in one of five refugee camps located around the country where they would live, pending a decision by Washington.

Or they could attempt to "make it" on their own with the aid of a sponsoring family.

Members of the 302nd maintenance section decided to, as a group, sponsor the men until they could find a permanent home.

Sareth moved in with Sam and Jan Chiappetta and their two children, Annemarie and Angie, June 23.

Sam, a federal civil service employee, works as a jet engine technician with the 302nd. He was Sareth's training officer.

Jan, a young mother, jokes about having a 23-year-old "son." She works at Anchor-Hocking in Lancaster.

Their efforts now, besides furnishing Sareth with a home and sustenance, are geared to get him "Americanized."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

If the book you take home to your child tells of snakes, toads and other amphibians, you won't have any trouble getting him to read.

In "A Snake Named Sam," Corky has several pets but his favorite boa constrictor, Sam, causes him the most trouble when he escapes from his cage in the science room. No one suspects Pauline, but who says girls are afraid to touch snakes? Iguanas jumping out from under the bedclothes and other escapades really add up to enjoyable reading for middle graders.

"Mike's Toads" is about toads all right, but they are only Mike's to care for while his friend is on vacation. But Mike faces a summer of catching replacement toads as one by one the little ones disappear as the big ones get suspiciously fatter. The author gives us a good look at real life as sixth graders know it.

Pippi isn't the girls we know. She's an impetuous imp who lives alone and has wonderful adventures in "Pippi Goes on Board." In this second of the "Pippi" series, she's off with her two friends to a deserted island. She's totally unafraid of tigers and carries them about like pussy cats. Pippi lives the carefree life all children dream of.

Note Anniversary Of Atomic Bomb

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — It has been 30 years since Norris Bradbury stood before dawn and watched "an extraordinary brilliance" spread across the New Mexico desert.

He says the spectacle of the world's first atomic explosion remains etched in his memory almost as clearly as on July 16, 1945, when the nuclear age was born.

"None of us had ever seen an explosion of that magnitude," he said in an interview. "One doesn't ever forget that."

The blast at Trinity Site left a crater a quarter-mile wide and up to 25 feet deep. The fireball, one mile in diameter, climbed to at least 40,000 feet. The light was seen 400 miles away.

Within one mile of the bomb, wrote one observer, no living thing survived — "There was not a rattlesnake left in the region, nor a blade of grass."

"Sareth can stay with us as long as he wants," said Chiappetta, who is qualified to service every type of airplane engine in existence.

"We would, however, like to see him find a good job, one that would allow him to go off on his own if he chooses to."

Sareth is 23, and has seven brothers and sisters, the youngest of whom is two. He grew up in Kompongtaom province in central Cambodia, and, after graduating from high school, joined the Khmer Army, at the age of 18.

He helped his countrymen fight off the Viet Cong insurgency during those years. Cambodia, a neutral country, became a refuge for Viet Cong troops, who were fighting Americans at the time.

He then joined the Air Force as a mechanic and moved, under orders, to Phnom Penh. That's when the VC made a concentrated effort to overrun the country, forcing Sareth's family to scatter for their lives. He has not heard from them since.

Sareth is concerned that he may never see his family again, but there is "no way" he's going back to his homeland until its a free nation.

He, and the other refugees, continually try to discover the fate of their families. They all drove a rented car to one of the refugee camps at Indian-town Gap, Pennsylvania, last week to talk with other refugees.

He wasn't impressed with refugee camps in general, he said. "I would rather be here (indicating the Chiappetta's house). Camps are number 10," he said using a rating system devised by Chiappetta with 10 being the lowest possible.

Sareth said he didn't like the camps because of the high population concentration of Vietnamese refugees there. Apparently, Cambodians and Vietnamese aren't the best of friends due primarily to their long history of confrontations.

Now that he is in America, Sareth is most impressed by the freedom. "I am amazed that I can walk the streets at night without a fear of getting shot," he said.

However, living here does have its problems - primarily money.

Neither Sareth nor any of the refugees qualify for unemployment or welfare benefits. However, his $7.50 a month salary in Cambodia was increased to $4 a day while training here. But that money soon ran out.

He needs a job.

Chiappetta, who has gotten Sareth a work permit, temporary driver's license, and social security card, says he has shown an interest in electronics.

But his primary qualifications are in the field of mechanics. He would like to find an apprenticeship type program that would involve any form of motors.

"Sareth is a 'working fool' ", said Chiappetta, who trained him, and uses compliments such as "industrious" and "reliable" in describing the man.

"He wants to learn and is willing to learn," he said. "I had Sareth for 12 weeks and he learned to overhaul a jet

Gilligan Aide Faces Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County Prosecutor says former Gov. John J. Gilligan has named the former aide who Gilligan says revealed to him that additional officials were involved in the Statehouse payroll scandal.

Prosecutor George C. Smith said he spoke by telephone Wednesday to Gilligan in his Washington office.

Smith said the aide, whom he would not identify, would be interviewed.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said the aide is believed to Joseph J. Sommer, former director of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services. Sommer testified at length before the grand jury probe conducted here and is now director of the Ohio Legislative Reference Bureau.

Gilligan said last Saturday that he had information indicating the Statehouse payroll scandal involved more persons than he thought.

Rocky Sets Cincy Talk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Rockefeller will speak to the 15 governors expected to attend the 1975 Midwestern Governors' Conference on Tuesday, host Gov. James A. Rhodes confirmed Wednesday.

"Vice President Rockefeller, a former governor of New York, understands the problems governors have," Rhodes said.

Governors from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin will participate in the 14th annual event July 20-24 in Cincinnati.

engine. That's remarkable."

But then, Sareth is a remarkable man.

He loves the Chiappetta children like his own brothers and sisters, joining them in their play activities. He also helps around the house in daily chores. Jan is teaching him to cook American food, which he enjoys far better than the staple rice diet of his homeland.

"But, we seem to be using a lot more soy sauce," says Jan.

Sareth was unable to join the family on a recent vacation to Canada. Canadian authorities wouldn't permit him to enter the country, and, if they had, U.S. authorities wouldn't allow him to return.

But he is adjusting.

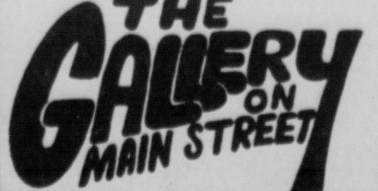

Sareth, and the two other NCOs, enjoyed Easter dinner with the Chiappettas. "I never thought I'd see Buddhists coloring Easter eggs," Jan said.

And there are a lot of things Sareth never thought he'd accomplish.

Pippi lives the carefree life all children dream of.

Try this wonderful bit of escape reading for 4th graders.

"The Fabulous Earthworm Deal" is a book for kids who want to earn money. Actually it's a "How Not To" book. J. T. and Marsh get carried away with youthful enthusiasm and very soon have to advertise their wares. After all, 44,000 worms take up too much house space.

In direct contrast is the poignant story of J.T., a ghetto child, hopeless in school, who only loved one thing. This short tale of his cat who only lived a brief time is touching. And J. T. recovers from the pain of his loss and learns to love another kitten. Good to read independently or as a story to share.

Joey loses something and gains something in "A Dog for Joey." Unhappy at leaving his happy farm life, ten year old Joey becomes a neighborhood troublemaker. But life takes a new meaning as he raises a puppy for "Guide Dogs for the Blind."

If you want to encourage your child to read take home an animal book; they are sure to please. Come on in and try one.

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1945

Circleville High School Class of 1945 held its reunion recently at the L-K Restaurant. Present were 77 alumni and guests, including three faculty members, Miss Mary Walters, Miss Margaret Rooney and Virgil Cress.

Serving on the decorating committee were Jo Bach, Joan Pettit and Eleanor Moon. They used a tiger head, the school flag, class motto, red and white covered tables, and flower arrangements of white chrysanthemums, baby's breath, red carnations and blue asters, and red, white and blue ribbons carrying out the bicentennial theme.

The invocation was given by Dale DeLong preceding the buffet dinner.

Ed (Freck) Heath was emcee for the evening. Flowers were given to the guest teachers, the youngest child, Harry Briner, married the longest, Norma Raub Layton; traveled the farthest, David Walters of Sioux Falls, South Dakota; most children, Lillian Stein Morrison, and most grandchildren, Peggy Harrison Dixon.

Letters were received from Ann Moeler, St. Louis, Mo.; Jim Dade, Los Angeles, Calif.; Bart Demming, Chicago, Ill. and Betty Mayberry Canny, Dayton, who were unable to attend.

Present for the dinner and evening of reminiscing were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Quicquel (Carrie Arledge), Mr. and Mrs. John Gray (Miriam Cockerham), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edgar (Mary Lou Crum), Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lovenshimer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schoenbaum (Maxine Friedman), Mr. and Mrs. Dixon (Peggy Harris), Mr. and Mrs. Blenn Mogan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprouse, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Straight Patrick, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned K. Barthelmas, all of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moon (Eleanor Beck), Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bach (Jo Doolittle), David Fullen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Don Layton (Norma Raub), Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Warden Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Clariol Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Joyce (Mary J. Turner), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wise, Miss Elizabeth Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. William Weller, Charles G. Will, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. DeLong, all of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blum, Laurelvillie; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Briner, Grove City; Mrs. Victor Young (Phyllis Clark), Amanda; Dudley Coffland, Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. James Eitel, Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clark (Frances Meinfelter), Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. William Spangler, Worthington; Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison (Lillian Stein), Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. George Towers, West Des Moines, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. David Walters, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCoy, Dr. Emily Lutz and Mrs. Marie Meyers.

Founding Of Darby Township Related With Flower Show Exhibition Lists For 61 Derby Annual Homecoming

In conjunction with the 61st Derby Annual Homecoming and the county bicentennial "Heritage" theme, Derby Garden Club is offering "Darby Days" commemorating the founding of Darby Township, as the 21st Annual Flower Show.

The show will be located in the Fellowship Hall of Derby United Methodist Church, approximately one mile east of State Route 2-62 on London-Circleville Northern Road.

The show will be open for public viewing: July 25th from 6-9 p.m. and July 26th from noon-7 p.m.

The founding of Darby Township follows:

Darby Township, originally settled as a part of the Virginia Military Land Grant, is situated in the northwest corner of Pickaway County. The greater part of the eastern boundary is formed by Darby Creek. This creek, which might well be termed a river, has Greenbrier Run as its principal tributary.

The first settlements in the township were made by the Poulson brothers who came from Virginia on pack horses and settled on Darby Creek about 1800. The Wyandotte Indians, who were friendly in nature, also had a camp on Darby Creek called "Indian Thicket" as the ground at that time was thickly covered with black haw.

Patriotic Theme Used For Meeting

For the recent meeting of Scioto Chapel Women's Society the Robtown Parish Hall was decorated in a patriotic color theme of red and white and blue with matching floral arrangements by Roberta Hedges.

Alice Ward conducted the business meeting with 19 members answering roll call. Miss Mary Ellen Downs led devotions using "America," "The Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag Of The United States Of America," part of Psalm 33 and "Freedom." An Independence Day prayer was read by Mrs. Hedges.

Coming events announced included the fall rummage sale to be held 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Aug. 15th, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Aug. 16th at the Parish House; A religious chalk talk at the church on Sept. 28th at 7:30 p.m.; and the annual picnic to be held at the Hudson's cottage on the banks of Darby Creek 7 p.m., Aug. 14th.

A historical facts contest was won by Mabel Walker and a name the presidents contest was won by Audrey Hott.

Miss Downs read an article entitled "Early Churches Of America" which emphasized the early influence of Methodism on history.

Fannie Brooks won the table number prize. A dessert course was served by Mrs. Hedges, Miss Downs and Mrs. Elizabeth Downs.

New LaSertoma Club To Meet Tuesday

Pickaway Plains Chapter LaSertoma Club will meet 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Mabe, 509 Plaza Drive.

There they buried many of their dead, and a number of skeletons, with guns and other implements, have since been plowed up.

Wild game such as deer and wild turkeys abounded in the area, which was at that time, heavily wooded with various types of oak, elm, hickory, and maple trees.

The first religious meetings were held by Thomas Reynolds, a Methodist exhorter, who arrived in the township soon after 1800. A Methodist society was formed at an early date and meetings were held in barns and other buildings until a log house was erected in 1844. This church was called the Free Will Church, any denomination that chose to do so being allowed to worship in it.

It is not known exactly when the first school was established in the township, but it is thought that one of the Poulson brothers taught one of the earliest about 1815. In 1886, the Darby Township High School was erected at Derby.

Prohibition generally prevailed during the history of the County; however, in 1829 when Palestine (Era) was founded, one of the first buildings built was a tavern.

The first gristmill in the township was the Harrisburg mill, built around 1836, and was still in operation in 1906. Two other gristmills were established along Darby Creek.

During the years from 1820 to 1870, the population of Darby Township nearly tripled.

Derby Station, located nearly in the center of the township, was established at the time when the B & O Railroad was put through the township. The town grew rapidly and had a population between 250 and 300.

Among the business interests listed in 1906 were the following: machinery, tile and brick manufacturing, general stores, groceries, meat market and confectionery, poultry dealers, agricultural implements, hardware, a blacksmith shop and two livery stables. Two hotels, the Derby Hotel and the Mantle Hotel, were also in operation.

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1945

Circleville High School Class of 1945 held its reunion recently at the L-K Restaurant. Present were 77 alumni and guests, including three faculty members, Miss Mary Walters, Miss Margaret Rooney and Virgil Cress.

Serving on the decorating committee were Jo Bach, Joan Pettit and Eleanor Moon. They used a tiger head, the school flag, class motto, red and white covered tables, and flower arrangements of white chrysanthemums, baby's breath, red carnations and blue asters, and red, white and blue ribbons carrying out the bicentennial theme.

The invocation was given by Dale DeLong preceding the buffet dinner.

Ed (Freck) Heath was emcee for the evening. Flowers were given to the guest teachers, the youngest child, Harry Briner, married the longest, Norma Raub Layton; traveled the farthest, David Walters of Sioux Falls, South Dakota; most children, Lillian Stein Morrison, and most grandchildren, Peggy Harrison Dixon.

Letters were received from Ann Moeler, St. Louis, Mo.; Jim Dade, Los Angeles, Calif.; Bart Demming, Chicago, Ill. and Betty Mayberry Canny, Dayton, who were unable to attend.

Present for the dinner and evening of reminiscing were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Quickel (Carrie Arledge), Mr. and Mrs. John Gray (Miriam Cockerham), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edgar (Mary Lou Crum), Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lovenshimer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schoenbaum (Maxine Friedman), Mr. and Mrs. Dixon (Peggy Harris), Mr. and Mrs. Blenn Mogan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprouse, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Straight Patrick, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned K. Barthelmas, all of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moon (Eleanor Beck), Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bach (Jo Doolittle), David Fullen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Don Layton (Norma Raub), Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Warden Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Clariol Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Joyce (Mary J. Turner), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wise, Miss Elizabeth Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. William Weller, Charles G. Will, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. DeLong, all of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blum, Laurelville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Briner, Grove City; Mrs. Victor Young (Phyllis Clark), Amanda; Dudley Coffland, Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. James Eitel, Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clark (Frances Meinfelter), Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. William Spangler, Worthington; Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison (Lillian Stein), Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. George Towers, West Des Moines, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. David Walters, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCoy, Dr. Emily Lutz and Mrs. Marie Meyers.

Founding Of Darby Township Related With Flower Show Exhibition Lists For 61 Derby Annual Homecoming

In conjunction with the 61st Derby Annual Homecoming and the county bicentennial "Heritage" theme, Derby Garden Club is offering "Darby Days" commemorating the founding of Darby Township, as the 21st Annual Flower Show.

The show will be located in the Fellowship Hall of Derby United Methodist Church, approximately one mile east of State Route 2-62 on London-Circleville Northern Road.

The show will be open for public viewing: July 25th from 6-9 p.m. and July 26th from noon-7 p.m.

The founding of Darby Township follows:

Darby Township, originally settled as a part of the Virginia Military Land Grant, is situated in the northwest corner of Pickaway County. The greater part of the eastern boundary is formed by Darby Creek. This creek, which might well be termed a river, has Greenbrier Run as its principal tributary.

The first settlements in the township were made by the Poulson brothers who came from Virginia on pack horses and settled on Darby Creek about 1800. The Wyandotte Indians, who were friendly in nature, also had a camp on Darby Creek called "Indian Thicket" as the ground at that time was thickly covered with black haw.

Patriotic Theme Used For Meeting

For the recent meeting of Scioto Chapel Women's Society the Robtown Parish Hall was decorated in a patriotic color theme of red and white and blue with matching floral arrangements by Roberta Hedges.

Alice Ward conducted the business meeting with 19 members answering roll call. Miss Mary Ellen Downs led devotions using "America," "The Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag Of The United States Of America," part of Psalm 33 and "Freedom." An Independence Day prayer was read by Mrs. Hedges.

Coming events announced included the fall rummage sale to be held 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Aug. 15th, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Aug. 16th at the Parish House; A religious chalk talk at the church on Sept. 28th at 7:30 p.m.; and the annual picnic to be held at the Hudson's cottage on the banks of Darby Creek 7 p.m., Aug. 14th.

A historical facts contest was won by Mabel Walker and a name the presidents contest was won by Audrey Hott.

Miss Downs read an article entitled "Early Churches Of America" which emphasized the early influence of Methodism on history.

Fannie Brooks won the table number prize. A dessert course was served by Mrs. Hedges, Miss Downs and Mrs. Elizabeth Downs.

There they buried many of their dead, and a number of skeletons, with guns and other implements, have since been plowed up.

Wild game such as deer and wild turkeys abounded in the area, which was at that time, heavily wooded with various types of oak, elm, hickory, and maple trees.

The first religious meetings were held by Thomas Reynolds, a Methodist exhorter, who arrived in the township soon after 1800. A Methodist society was formed at an early date and meetings were held in barns and other buildings until a log house was erected in 1844. This church was called the Free Will Church, any denomination that chose to do so being allowed to worship in it.

It is not known exactly when the first school was established in the township, but it is thought that one of the Poulson brothers taught one of the earliest about 1815. In 1886, the Darby Township High School was erected at Derby.

Prohibition generally prevailed during the history of the County; however, in 1829 when Palestine (Era) was founded, one of the first buildings built was a tavern.

The first gristmill in the township was the Harrisburg mill, built around 1836, and was still in operation in 1906. Two other gristmills were established along Darby Creek.

During the years from 1820 to 1870, the population of Darby Township nearly tripled.

Derby Station, located nearly in the center of the township, was established at the time when the B & O Railroad was put through the township. The town grew rapidly and had a population between 250 and 300.

Among the business interests listed in 1906 were the following: machinery, tile and brick manufacturing, general stores, groceries, meat market and confectionery, poultry dealers, agricultural implements, hardware, a blacksmith shop and two livery stables. Two hotels, the Derby Hotel and the Mantle Hotel, were also in operation.

Plan New Intelligence Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to replace its dissension-torn intelligence committee with a new panel headed by Rep. Otis G. Pike.

Pike, a New York Democrat who headed the House inquiry on the Pueblo affair, was understood to be the choice of speaker Carl Albert.

The effort to abolish the committee was led by Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn., who said reorganizing the body would be "an official license to go on a witch hunt."

Meanwhile, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate intelligence committee, said, "We have to face the possibility the CIA might have acted as a rogue elephant raging out of control. That might be the way the evidence turns out."

In a separate interview in the Baltimore Sun, Church was quoted as saying: "There is very serious doubt about whether the president or the oversight committees — the chain of command controlling covert actions — were ever told" about CIA assassination planning.

He also said his panel has found no evidence to support charges that the CIA had infiltrated the White House or other government agencies.

The House is debating a resolution approved by the House Rules Committee to abolish the existing 10-member select committee and replace it with a 13-member one with an identical mandate.

Gold-Toothed Canine Back On Job

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Smokey, a two-year-old German shepherd, had been cruising a beat with Deputy Dennis Briggs of the Allen County K-9 Corps for 15 months.

Then, a collision with the rear car window splintered a tooth.

The exposed nerves of the shattered tooth prevented Smokey from using his best weapon. His police career was threatened.

Smokey's injury could be compared to the crippling of the human hand. Briggs explained that a K-9 dog uses its mouth as a human uses a hand. The dogs are trained to grab guns, knives and other objects that can be used as weapons.

Because of the pain caused by the exposed nerve, Smokey couldn't perform the article search and he wouldn't obey all obedience commands.

Removal of the tooth would risk a forced retirement, but in his injured condition Smokey couldn't function properly.

Briggs suggested the tooth be rebuilt. Dr. Robert Bailey, K-9 Corps veterinarian, concurred and began looking for a dentist.

Finally, after some reluctance, Dr. Robert Brunk accepted the challenge. After preliminary consultations and an bite check, Smokey, deep in a sodium pentobarbital dream and wrapped in a plastic sheet, was brought to the dentist.

Working around a long, loosely lolling tongue, Dr. Brunk made an impression using a special mold fashioned by lab technician Joseph Zuppardo.

As humans do, Smokey learned that one trip to the dentist leads to another. A week later, Smokey returned, again dreaming sodium pentobarbital dreams. A gold cap was anchored.

Dr. Brunk termed Smokey a cooperative patient with strong, clean teeth. The cap should last for life, he said.

The cap was the only solution if Smokey was to stay on the job, Dr. Bailey said. Removal of the tooth would have been difficult because the root curves back into the jaw and is bigger than the tooth. Extraction meant surgery and removal of a section of gum and jawbone as well.

The K-9 Corps puts a $2,000 value on Smokey and extraction of the tooth would have ruined him as an attack dog.

"The dog was probably in great pain and certainly he would have been less valuable," said Dr. Bailey. "He may have been no good at all as a police dog."

An $11 gold cap was a humanitarian and cheap solution. "He bounced right back," said Dr. Bailey.

As proof, Smokey placed fourth in a recent show, his best performance to date.

Smokey is back on the beat with Deputy Briggs, unaware of his 14-karat bite. Those who encounter Smokey on the wrong side of the law could become painfully aware of it.

$608,000 Awarded To State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has awarded $608,000 to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development to plan additional improvements in the state's criminal justice system.

LEAA Administrator Richard W. Velde said such grants are part of a policy to encourage criminal justice agencies to make comprehensive plans before spending money on individual projects.

Denim-Dressed Dentist Busy Decorating Dental Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A denim-dressed dentist here is tattooing teeth with suns and moons, hearts and flowers. He says decorating dental work is a new form of body art.

Dr. Robert Wachtel says he only puts designs on porcelain caps — not on real teeth — and never on front teeth "because they're too obvious and people may change their minds."

And the 33-year-old dentist emphasizes he never caps a tooth unless it is necessary.

"More and more people are doing it — it's quite nice and very personal," says the 33-year-old Wachtel. He said he's adorned the teeth of 36 patients in the last year.

Wachtel, whose own teeth are still pearly white, says his stock in trade includes sunbursts, stars, airplanes, anchors, lightning rods, signs of the zodiac "and any design somebody wants."

The patient draws the design in any color or colors and lab technicians paint it on the cap and bake on a glaze. The patient has a week to decide before the cap is cemented. If he changes his mind, the design is ground off and the cap reglazed.

A fancy fang costs no more than a plain white cap, Wachtel says.

Wachtel says he first hit upon the idea of ornamented teeth when a patient complained that the cap he was about to install looked too plain and suggested a design.

"I've been suggesting designs for caps ever since. Like tattoos, they're a very personal form of expression," Wachtel says.

Bob Sagesar, an architectural draftsman and sailor, ordered a blue anchor for his tooth and says he's sorry it isn't on a front tooth.

"Mostly, I don't show it to people," he admits. "But if they want to see it, they just have to look way back in there."

"I always wanted a tattoo, so I did it on my tooth" says Michelle Hubbell, a sales clerk. She got an astrological symbol for Mercury rising.

She says most people like it but that a few think it's "bizarre and horrible."

Arlene Glazer, an administrative assistant, ordered a five-pointed star on her left bicuspid. She says she isn't sorry, but "I'm afraid to let my mother see it."

The speakers gave the government's view on the economy in government, information on tax reform, paperwork, energy, medical care, consumerism, economic education, retirement and pension plans.

Gaib said this was the first time he personally met with the NFIB organization. He was curious to see how the conference would be conducted and came away with a favorable impression. "They acted like they were there with one purpose in mind—to make this country a better place to work."

Gaib Equipment Company has been owned by Gaib and his two brothers since it was founded in 1968. Gaib said his brothers are farmers, so he manages the company. It is located on Highway Rt. 23 South.

Gaib said the officials who spoke were basically being honest, but were definitely gearing what they said to the specific audience. They all addressed the main problem of the government and businesses becoming uncontrollable, and vowed to work with the NFIB to solve it.

Some of the speakers were: President Ford, Senator Hubert Humphrey, Alabama Governor George Wallace, Secretary of Commerce, Rogers Morton, and California Governor Ronald Reagan.

Gaib said President Ford spoke about the family-run paint store his father started before the depression. Ford said if he would have had to go through all the red tape present businessmen face, his father probably wouldn't have succeeded through the depression.

Gaib was impressed with the speech by Gov. Reagan also. He faced a large deficit when he came into office and relied on the suggestions of private enterprises to solve the problem.

NFIB was formed in 1943 and presently has 430,000 members. It is open to all individual businessmen including farmers, retail and family businesses. Gaib said he joined on the recommendation of another local member.

Dentistry Problems Discussed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A survey commissioned by the Ohio Board of Regents concluded that the state doesn't need a third school of dentistry.

The main point it underscored is that Ohio already graduates more than enough dentists. The problem, if there is one, is getting them to remain in Ohio to practice.

About 95 per cent of Ohioans need dental care, but only 47 per cent visit dentists annually, the survey suggested.

Board members, who recently gave their approval to the report and sent it to the governor and legislature, said generally they were disturbed by maldistribution of dentists in the state.

Chairman Marvin Warner of Cincinnati, among others, said it disturbed him to note from the report that many counties have practically no dental care while other areas seem saturated.

Warner said he might support a proposal that would allot places in existing dental schools at Ohio State and Case Western Reserve in Cleveland in such a way as to admit at least one student from each county. He said the student could be accepted on the promise he would return to his home county and practice for a set time after graduation.

Richard D. Ruppert, vice chancellor for health affairs, said he questioned if such a plan could meet possible constitutional challenges, although he agreed with the chairman's intent. At Warner's request, the regents agreed to take the proposal, or alternative suggestions, under advisement.

The survey was done for the regents as a result of a resolution adopted by the 110th General Assembly, by Optimum Governmental Services, Inc., of Columbus. The seven regents, who oversee higher education in Ohio, generally applauded the report.

Among other things, it noted a distribution of dentists that ranged from one in Vinton County with a population of 9,420 and two in Morgan County with a population of 12,375 to 491 in Franklin County with a population of 833,245, 379 in Hamilton County with 924,018 population and 881 in Cuyahoga County with 1.7 million population.

The report concluded that Ohio graduates a sufficient number of dentists each year, but retains only about 35 per cent with that figure dropping.

Lack of postgraduate programs is a major reason, the report said, and suggested the regents establish a pilot program in northwest Ohio in cooperation with the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo.

The report said Ohio now graduates about 300 dentists a year, but there are only 25 general practice internship positions and 65 specialty positions available annually.

If the Toledo area pilot project is successful, regents should consider similar programs in Akron, Athens, Cincinnati, Dayton and Youngstown, the report said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Bachelor's Scent Sends Women

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a very good friend. He is 34, single and a professional man. He's good company, and we enjoy having him over.

We know he'd like to be married and have a family, and he would make some woman a fine husband but he is very much overweight. Besides that, he has a very bad odor because he seldom takes a bath or changes his clothes.

When he leaves, I have to spray the room. We are embarrassed to have other people over when he's visiting, and it's impossible to find him a date because we don't know any single girl who can't smell.

How can we make him realize the seriousness of this problem without losing a good friend?

BREATHLESS IN N.Y.

DEAR BREATHLESS: It would be an act of kindness if you (or your husband) would tell your friend that he simply must bathe and change his clothes regularly. Let him know that he has an offensive odor. It's hard to believe that a person could be this insensitive. Perhaps HE can't smell.

DEAR ABBY: I've been waiting on tables for only three weeks, but I have a problem that only you can solve.

I was told that under no circumstances should a customer help himself to coffee. (The coffee is on a burner in full view of the customers, and sometimes if the waitress is busy and can't get to the customer fast enough, he will get up and get his own coffee.)

Please tell me how a waitress can STOP someone from getting his own coffee? (We aren't allowed to hit a customer.)

Also, we are told that no customer is allowed to move tables or chairs, even to accommodate people who joined his table later. The waitress is supposed to do that, but what if the customer doesn't ask and just drags up extra chairs from another table?

I was told that if anybody else helped himself to coffee in my station, or moved the chairs or tables, it would cost me my job. Is that fair?

STUMPED WAITRESS

DEAR STUMPED: No. But such rules are made to keep you on your toes so that no one will attempt to pour his own coffee or clutter the aisles with extra chairs (a fire hazard). When you see a customer breaking these rules, tell him most emphatically that it will cost you your job if he doesn't desist.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine wanted to show her appreciation for a favor I did, so she gave me a box of candy. It was a well-known brand and not cheap, either.

When I got home and opened the box, I found it was wormy. Of course, I threw it in the garbage immediately.

Should I tell my friend that the candy was wormy? I know she would be upset if she knew. But since there's no way of proving it, she can't get her money back, so why make her feel bad?

On the other hand, I don't like the idea of telling her that the candy was great when it wasn't edible.

IN A BIND

DEAR IN: Tell her the truth. Even though she can't produce the evidence, she can report the candy to the manager. He would appreciate knowing, and if he's smart, he'll give her an edible box.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

CIA Practiced On Socialists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Central Intelligence Agency spies practiced for overseas assignments by infiltrating and reporting on the domestic political activities of the Socialist Workers party and its youth affiliate, according to newly disclosed CIA documents.

The documents, a four-inch-thick stack obtained by the party in its law suit against the agency, also show that the CIA was monitoring the party's political campaigning as early as 1950.

The material suggests that the CIA began to keep files on domestic political activity far earlier than the Rockefeller Commission reported. And it indicates that CIA infiltration of dissident political groups in Washington may have continued two years longer than the commission stated.

The documents were made public by the Political Rights Defense Fund, a New York-based organization which has provided legal aid to the party.

In 1951, King Leopold III of Belgium abdicated and was succeeded on the throne by his son, Baudouin.

Patrol Chief Blasts Cut In Salaries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Highway Patrol Supt. Frank R. Blackstone has complained to the governor's office that the new state budget may cause resignations in the patrol because it lowers starting salaries.

Blackstone, in a letter to Gov. James A. Rhodes, complained of placing patrolmen in the same pay classification as storekeepers, maintenance workers and sanitarians.

The document also lowers starting salaries for patrolmen as well as salaries of patrolmen after 10 years of service by 30 cents an hour less than under the old budget and two cents an hour less after 20 years service.

Blackstone told Rhodes he feared recruitment would now be more difficult, the resignation rate would rise and that there might be problems with morale and job performance.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which put the budget in final form, disagrees.

"I don't think the good colonel has to worry about a sharp decline in the highway patrol," Meshel said. "I understand they are standing in line to get into the highway patrol. It has a good image."

The starting salary for the patrol, Meshel said, was lowered from $11,006 to $10,843, or 28 cents an hour. He said the change came from another bill based on a Civil Service Study Commission recommendations.

"We didn't deal directly with the issue," Meshel said. "We took the bill that came from the patrol and supported it in committee."

"We were on the eve of passing the budget and we couldn't go into every salary classification," he said. "The study commission was trying to bring some other salaries in line."

"I don't know why they would complain of who they are classified with," Meshel said. "It's the money that counts. A highway patrol sergeant makes the same as a Columbus police lieutenant."

What's our secret to better grain service?

We WORK at it!

We work at fast unloading, to get you back to the field sooner. We work at upgrading facilities to handle grain better. We work at upgrading people, too, so they'll do a better job with your grain. We work at honest weighing. We work at fair grading. We work at accurate testing. We work at having up-to-the-minute market information.

And all this work is to make your Net Check better when you market your grain. When your wheat and oats are ready, give us a call. We'll work at it with you to make the return better.

CIA Practiced On Socialists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Central Intelligence Agency spies practiced for overseas assignments by infiltrating and reporting on the domestic political activities of the Socialist Workers party and its youth affiliate, according to newly disclosed CIA documents.

The documents, a four-inch-thick stack obtained by the party in its law suit against the agency, also show that the CIA was monitoring the party's political campaigning as early as 1950.

The material suggests that the CIA began to keep files on domestic political activity far earlier than the Rockefeller Commission reported. And it indicates that CIA infiltration of dissident political groups in Washington may have continued two years longer than the commission stated.

The documents were made public by the Political Rights Defense Fund, a New York-based organization which has provided legal aid to the party.

In 1951, King Leopold III of Belgium abdicated and was succeeded on the throne by his son, Baudouin.

BREATHLESS IN N.Y.

DEAR BREATHLESS: It would be an act of kindness if you (or your husband) would tell your friend that he simply must bathe and change his clothes regularly. Let him know that he has an offensive odor. It's hard to believe that a person could be this insensitive. Perhaps HE can't smell.

DEAR ABBY: I've been waiting on tables for only three weeks, but I have a problem that only you can solve.

I was told that under no circumstances should a customer help himself to coffee. (The coffee is on a burner in full view of the customers, and sometimes if the waitress is busy and can't get to the customer fast enough, he will get up and get his own coffee.)

Please tell me how a waitress can STOP someone from getting his own coffee? (We aren't allowed to hit a customer.)

Also, we are told that no customer is allowed to move tables or chairs, even to accommodate people who joined his table later. The waitress is supposed to do that, but what if the customer doesn't ask and just drags up extra chairs from another table?

I was told that if anybody else helped himself to coffee in my station, or moved the chairs or tables, it would cost me my job. Is that fair?

STUMPED WAITRESS

DEAR STUMPED: No. But such rules are made to keep you on your toes so that no one will attempt to pour his own coffee or clutter the aisles with extra chairs (a fire hazard). When you see a customer breaking these rules, tell him most emphatically that it will cost you your job if he doesn't disist.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine wanted to show her appreciation for a favor I did, so she gave me a box of candy. It was a well-known brand and not cheap, either.

When I got home and opened the box, I found it was wormy. Of course, I threw it in the garbage immediately.

Should I tell my friend that the candy was wormy? I know she would be upset if she knew. But since there's no way of proving it, she can't get her money back, so why make her feel bad?

On the other hand, I don't like the idea of telling her that the candy was great when it wasn't edible.

PUBLIC NOTICE

(1) Pursuant to Section 123.681 and 123.682, Ohio Revised Code, pertaining to the sale or transfer of certain State Canal Land, the Department of Administrative Services is conducting a study to determine the future need of said canal land for projects of public nature. Portions of said canal land are described as follows:

Being that portion of the abandoned Ohio and Erie Canal lands situated in the State of Ohio, Pickaway County, and being the full width of all the canal property remaining to be sold or transferred in Harrison Township. All such canal lands are hereby offered for sale to adjoining owners or present state lessees. Further reference is made to Plat Nos. 156 and 157, on file in the office of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services, Division of Public Works, at Columbus, Ohio.

(2) Applications for the above described land shall be submitted to RAYMOND R. KOHL, DEPUTY DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF PUBLIC WORKS, THE OHIO DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES, 35TH FLOOR, 30 EAST BROAD STREET, COLUMBUS, OHIO 43215.

(3) Agencies will have thirty days from the last date of publication of the Public Notice to submit a request for transfer.

(4) The Bureau of Real Estate, Department of Administrative Services, must receive within sixty days of the last date of publication, a preliminary sketch of the proposed project, along with the proposed method of financing.

(5) If the project is determined to be feasible, the agency will be required to submit final plans, a survey of the canal lands, and their source of financing within six months from the notification of acceptance of their request for transfer.

(6) If the project is not feasible, and negotiation with the agency does not result in a solution, the preliminary facts will be presented, along with the recommendations of the Bureau of Real Estate, to the Canal Land Authority, for final disposition.

(7) If no application is received within the above specified time, it will be assumed that no department or agency of the State of Ohio, or any political subdivision thereof, or any quasi public board or agency has any present or future need for the above State Canal land, and said land will then be sold in accordance with Section 123.681, Ohio Revised Code.

IN A BIND

DEAR IN: Tell her the truth. Even though she can't produce the evidence, she can report the candy to the manager. He would appreciate knowing , and if he's smart, he'll give her an edible box.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Rampaging Reds Open Road Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — The rampaging Cincinnati Reds open the second half of the 1975 season today, 12½ games out front in the National League West with an eight-game eastern road trip starting in Montreal.

Leading pitcher Jack Billingham, 10-3, is looking for his eighth straight victory and his fifth complete game.

While Reds hitters have been tearing up opposing pitchers, the team's hurling staff has been having its troubles.

No Cincinnati pitcher has pitched a complete game since June 11 despite the fact that the club has won 41 of its last 50 games and is currently on a streak of ten straight victories for the first time in 18 years.

Thus far, in 84 games, five relief pitchers have made a total of 145 appearances and collected 22 saves between them.

Asked where he would be now without his bullpen, Manager Sparky Anderson last week said: "Back home in Thousand Oaks, California."

Rookie Will McEnaney has been the most effective. His earned run average in 40 appearances is 1.29, giving up 10 runs and 50 hits in 55.2 innings with 10 saves.

Pedro Borbon has three saves in 38 games and Rawley Eastwick has six saves in 24 games with an ERA of 4.19. Clay Carroll has a won-loss record of 5-4 in 30 games, three saves and an ERA of 2.89. Pat Darcy is 4-5 with a 3.54 ERA in 43 innings in 13 games.

The Reds are still without southpaw smoker Don Gullett, 9-3, who is not expected back before August because of a broken finger.

Cincinnati's success, however, lies with its heavy-hitting offense which has scored more runs than any other team in the National League — 462. The team also has the highest team batting average, .273 in a lineup that is led by Joe Morgan, .346, with the weakest being Tony Perez, .255.

Perez however, has 56 runs batted in, second only to Johnny Bench's 76. He is also tied with Morgan for home runs with 13. Bench leads with 19 and George Foster has 15. The team has hit 76 four-baggers in the first half of the season.

Experience Said Needed By Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Dennis Eckersley has been one of the most successful members of Cleveland's youth movement, but he says inexperience is the biggest problem the Tribe has.

"I don't think our pitching staff can equal the really top teams," said the 20-year-old rookie righthander. "Just for the simple fact that we have no veterans who have five or so good seasons behind them. We're going on what we hope we can do."

"I'm sure we have the hitting," Eckersley said. "I know we can hit and if we can come up with the pitching we'll be up there."

Right now, despite Eckersley's 6-2 record and the fine performances of three or four other rookies, the Indians are 9½ games out of the American League East Division lead.

They begin a 28-game string tonight when the Oakland A's come to Cleveland Stadium for a two-game set. Ken Holtzman is scheduled to pitch for the A's against the Tribe's Eric Raich.

"The breaks were going against us for a while," Eckersley said, "but it seems like in the last few weeks they've been going our way."

"I can't explain it, but it seems like the breaks have to be going your way in order to win the close ones."

Cleveland Browns

Acquire Willie Miller

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Willie Miller of the Houston Oilers has been acquired by the Cleveland Browns in exchange for a future draft choice.

Team officials said they hope Miller will shore up an admittedly weak spot on the team last season.

In the 1975 National Football League draft Miller was picked 12th. He is Colorado State's all time leading pass receiver, holding records for a career, season and single game.

Prize Gimmicks Hike Baseball Attendance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball owners are literally throwing money away this season in an all-out effort to lure fans into ballparks.

Along with such conventional gimmicks as bat, ball and glove days, there are such things as a "cash scramble" in Cleveland, a pass to Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., and a free car in Los Angeles.

The result has been a grand slam in attendance.

The 24 major league clubs have attracted 16,817,710 paying customers, a leap of 4.8 per cent and 800,000 persons for the same number of games at this point in 1974. If the trend continues in the second half of the season, the result would be a record attendance figure of 31 million in the major leagues.

With the help of that unique "cash scramble" brainchild, the Cleveland Indians have boosted attendance from 500,298 last year to 670,531 this season.

The Indians throw $2,000 on the field and turn some Designated Fans loose for 90 seconds, allowing them to keep all the money they can find. The Indians also have offered their fans fireworks displays and tight rope walkers along with such old standbys as bat night, beer night, stocking cap night, jacket day, camera day, jersey day and an oldtimers day.

The California Angels, up nearly 100,000 over last year's 600,000 crowd figure at the AllStar break, are the ones giving away a pass to Disneyland. The Angels' promotion include a package where ticket purchasers get admission to the ballpark along with free rides to all Disneyland attractions after the game.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, perennial leaders in the attendance game, have drawn 1.5 million fans into their park — nearly 200,000 over last year — and threaten to crack the golden $3 million plateau this season. One of the big reasons they've been so successful through the years is their promotional campaign. The Dodgers, among other things, hold a fan appreciation day on which thousands of prizes are given away — including an automobile.

Along with the Indians and the Angels, most every other team in the American League has shown an increase in attendance this year. The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Brewers display the most noticeable increases — the Brewers moving ahead 270,658 to 771,661 and the Yankees shooting up 252,455 to 739,320.

Only the Texas Rangers, Chicago White Sox, Kansas City Royals and Detroit Tigers have dropped in attendance — the White Sox showing the most dramatic decrease of 203,421.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds follow the Dodgers in

Williamsport Girl Attends Gym Camp

Carol Evans of Williamsport recently participated in the Ashland College Gymnastics Camp of Champions on the college campus.

Carol will be a fifth-grader at Jackson where she is active in gymnastics.

The camp features a well-planned instructional program for beginners through advanced gymnasts, ages 10 to 18 years. The campers live on the Ashland College campus and work on modern gymnastics equipment meeting Olympic specifications. This is the third year for the successful camp which offers four week-long sessions, including 80 girls last week.

The camp will continue for two more sessions set for July 20-25, and July 27-Aug. 1. Those girls interested in attending camp may do so by contacting Gary Moose at Ashland College.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, Williamsport.

Hitting Features Slow Pitch Play

Circleville Oil topped Ashville Merchants, 16-3, and rapped Lowes-Pickaway Concrete, 21-5, while Pro Shop routed Williamsport Merchants, 20-9, to highlight slow pitch action Wednesday night at Ted Lewis Park.

John Lewis hurled both wins for the Oilers and Terry Morrison, Jim Moorehead, Dave Bass and Jim Diltz were the big hitters for the winners.

Bud Ferguson and Bill Smith combined to hurl the Pro Shop victory while John Stevenson took the loss.

Steve Dade, Bud Ferguson, Gary Robbins and Steve Watters all belted home runs for the Pro Shop.

Rampaging Reds Open Road Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — The rampaging Cincinnati Reds open the second half of the 1975 season today, 12½ games out front in the National League West with an eight-game eastern road trip starting in Montreal.

Leading pitcher Jack Billingham, 10-3, is looking for his eighth straight victory and his fifth complete game.

While Reds hitters have been tearing up opposing pitchers, the team's hurling staff has been having its troubles.

No Cincinnati pitcher has pitched a complete game since June 11 despite the fact that the club has won 41 of its last 50 games and is currently on a streak of ten straight victories for the first time in 18 years.

Thus far, in 84 games, five relief pitchers have made a total of 145 appearances and collected 22 saves between them.

Asked where he would be now without his bullpen, Manager Sparky Anderson last week said: "Back home in Thousand Oaks, California."

Rookie Will McEneaney has been the most effective. His earned run average in 40 appearances is 1.29, giving up 10 runs and 50 hits in 55.2 innings with 10 saves.

Pedro Borbon has three saves in 38 games and Rawley Eastwick has six saves in 24 games with an ERA of 4.19. Clay Carroll has a won-loss record of 5-4 in 30 games, three saves and an ERA of 2.89. Pat Darcy is 4-5 with a 3.54 ERA in 43 innings in 13 games.

The Reds are still without southpaw smokes Don Gullett, 9-3, who is not expected back before August because of a broken finger.

Cincinnati's success, however, lies with its heavy-hitting offense which has scored more runs than any other team in the National League—462. The team also has the highest team batting average, .273 in a lineup that is led by Joe Morgan, .346, with the weakest being Tony Perez, .255.

Perez however, has 56 runs batted in, second only to Johnny Bench's 76. He is also tied with Morgan for home runs with 13. Bench leads with 19 and George Foster has 15. The team has hit 76 four-baggers in the first half of the season.

Experience Said Needed By Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Dennis Eckersley has been one of the most successful members of Cleveland's youth movement, but he says inexperience is the biggest problem the Tribe has.

"I don't think our pitching staff can equal the really top teams," said the 20-year-old rookie righthander. "Just for the simple fact that we have no veterans who have five or so good seasons behind them. We're going on what we hope we can do."

"I'm sure we have the hitting," Eckersley said. "I know we can hit and if we can come up with the pitching we'll be up there."

Right now, despite Eckersley's 6-2 record and the fine performances of three or four other rookies, the Indians are 9½ games out of the American League East Division lead.

They begin a 28-game string tonight when the Oakland A's come to Cleveland Stadium for a two-game set. Ken Holtzman is scheduled to pitch for the A's against the Tribe's Eric Raich.

"The breaks were going against us for a while," Eckersley said, "but it seems like in the last few weeks they've been going our way."

"I can't explain it, but it seems like the breaks have to be going your way in order to win the close ones."

Cleveland Browns

Acquire Willie Miller

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Willie Miller of the Houston Oilers has been acquired by the Cleveland Browns in exchange for a future draft choice.

Team officials said they hope Miller will shore up an admittedly weak spot on the team last season.

In the 1975 National Football League draft Miller was picked 12th. He is Colorado State's all time leading pass receiver, holding records for a career, season and single game.

AL Trades Mostly Have Proven Bad

AP Sports Writer
Baseball's open market — the preseason trading flurry — is a little like shooting craps in Las Vegas. "C'mon seven ... snake-eyes!"

Take the American League, for example. The Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians took their turn at the table and the dice came up snake-eyes.

The Oakland A's took their roll and, lo and behold, lucky seven.

Like Vegas, Monte Carlo or the racetrack, some clubs came out ahead and others were big losers. But those who played it right, played it carefully, came out about even or slightly ahead — the Boston Red Sox, Milwaukee Brewers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles.

The Tigers wound up the 1973-74 season in last place in the AL Eastern Division and went to the trading block with gusto. They're still last in their division.

They dealt pitcher Woody Fryman to Montreal of the National League for catcher Terry Humphrey and pitcher Tom Walker. Humphrey, who's now out with a shoulder injury, has played in only 10 games and Walker has a 3-6 record. On the other hand, Fryman is 7-6 for the Expos with a respectable 3.07 earned run average.

Detroit also began Ed Brinkman's winding route to the Yankees by trading the shortstop to St. Louis through San Diego and getting first baseman Nate Colbert. Colbert, hitting around .150 and headed for what appeared to be a team strike out record, then was sold to Montreal.

Cleveland, one game ahead of the Tigers at the All Star break, was in the market for fresh pitching, and they couldn't have started out worse. They gave up pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Bosman to Oakland for Blue Moon Odom, who wanted nothing to do with the Tribe. Finally Odom was traded to Atlanta for Roric Harrison, 4-2 with a 4.10 ERA.

In all, the Indians traded for pitchers Harrison, Jim Bibby, Jackie Brown, Don Hood and Dave LaRoche, "virtually our entire pitching staff," a spokesman said. But in the Hood deal, the Indians also got first baseman Boog Powell from the Baltimore Orioles, and that hasn't disappointed them.

Besides getting Jim Perry, 3-1 with Oakland, and Dick Bosman, 6-1 with the A's, from Cleveland, the Western Division leaders picked up pitchers Stan Bahnsen from the Chicago White Sox and Sonny Siebert from San Diego. But the A's most significant trade may have been the one for designated hitter Billy Williams, which sent to the Chicago Cubs infielder Manny Trillo and relievers Bob Locker and Darold Knowles.

Williams has been in all but one of Oakland's games, has 44 RBI and 12 home runs.

The Red Sox, whose inexplicable slide at the end of last season dropped them from first to third in the AL East, stayed out of the market this year, making only a minor deal that sent veteran Tommy Harper — and his big salary — to California for utility man Bob Heise. And the Red Sox are back in first.

Milwaukee's most notable trade, of course, was the one that brought Hank Aaron back to County Stadium from Atlanta for Dave May who had an abysmal 1973-74 season for the Brewers and now is a Braves' backup. The most even-up trade in the majors involved the Yankees, who went to the NL's San Francisco Giants to get Bobby Bonds for Bobby Murcer — All-Star for All-Star. Bonds is hitting only .238 but has 47 RBI, 20 homers and 16 stolen bases. Murcer is hitting .307 with 51 RBI and 10 homers.

Besides Bonds and Brinkman, the Yanks also got reserve catcher Ed Herrmann from the White Sox and outfielder Rich Coggins from the Expos on waivers.

Coggins came to the Yanks by way of Montreal. He started out the season with the Orioles, who unloaded Coggins, pitcher Dave McNally and minor leaguer Bill Kirkpatrick to the Expos for pitcher Mike Torrez and Ken Singleton in what turned out to be one of the most disastrous trades the NL made with the junior circuit.

Torrez is 9-5 with the Orioles and Manager Earl Weaver says he "should have a better record, but he's been the unfortunate guy with the bullpen letting a couple of games get away from him."

Singleton leads the club with a .298 batting average, 64 walks, and he has 24 RBI.

Montreal waived Coggins, McNally retired and Kirkpatrick is still a minor leaguer.

The California Angels only had one trade of note — the one with Boston — but it was a good one for them. Harper, the No. 3 base stealer among active players when the season began, is credited by the Angels with developing the club's strongest trait — its speed.

He's been coaching Mickey Rivers, Jerry Remy, Morris Nettles and Dave Collins with their baserunning. Rivers has 46 stolen bases, Remy 22, Nettles 22, Collins 11 in just one month with the Angels, and Harper has 17 himself.

Harper also is challenging for leading designated hitter honors with a .272 average.

Texas is the only other AL club that has done a significant amount of trading, sending Bibby and Brown to Cleveland for the other pitching Perry, Gaylord. The maneuver hasn't turned out particularly well for either club. Gaylord is 1-5 with the Rangers. Bibby is 4-9 and Brown 0-1 with a 5.25 ERA for Cleveland.

Minnesota's only trade sent Bobby Darwin to Milwaukee for John Briggs, and, once again, the Brewers got the best of that one. Briggs has only one hit in his last 25 at bats, while Darwin has 10 homers and 28 RBI.

Kansas City was involved in no major trades but picked up Harmon Killebrew after the Twins waived him. Killebrew is hitting only .210 but has 10 homers and 33 RBI.

Motorcycle Races Set For Logan

The Lancaster Motorcycle Club will hold the 3rd Annual Professional Motorcycle Race July 27, at Logan Fairgrounds.

The $1200 dollar purse will attract some of the top riders from all over the United States. The action packed afternoon of racing will start with practice at noon and races at 2 p.m.

The races will be held on the Fairgrounds ½ mile dirt track.

The beginning novice riders will be riding up to 360 cc motorcycles. The junior and expert riders will be racing the powerful 750 cc.

The riders will be wearing bright colored leather suits, helmets, and gloves for protection and a steel plated left shoe that will enable them to broad slide their motorcycles through the curves.

The race program will consist of six lap qualifying heat races and the first three place winners of the heat races will advance to the main finals. There will be a total of 15 exciting races that will please any race fan.

Bowie Kuhn Fights For Job

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn clung tenuously to his job today with the American and National leagues expected to table a final vote on extension of his term of office.

Kuhn came perilously close to being fired Wednesday when four American League clubs opposed his rehiring at baseball's summer meetings. Kuhn, whose seven-year term of office expires Aug. 12, 1976, needs nine of the 12 votes in each league to continue in office.

He had all 12 in the National League but only eight in the American. The opposition was led by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley and Baltimore boss Jerold Hoffberger, both longtime opponents of Kuhn. They apparently convinced the New York Yankees and Texas Rangers to join them in opposing Kuhn.

The AL clubs spent six hours discussing the delicate issue Wednesday and then sent word to their National League counterparts of what one owner called, "our straw vote."

That didn't sit too well with the Nationals, where Kuhn's support was reported to be complete. At that point, the NL bosses invited the AL owners into their session for an informal meeting. The single matter to be discussed was Kuhn.

For another hour, the NL, led by influential Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, tried to change the minds of Kuhn's opponents. But the only progress they made was to get the AL owners to agree to table the matter.

At that point, AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney were dispatched to Kuhn's suite to report what had happened. They told him the leagues wanted to table the matter. At first, the commissioner balked at that step.

"As I understand it," said one owner, "the commissioner said he wanted a vote taken today. Then he changed his mind and said it would be all right to table it."

That left Kuhn's job in something of a limbo status. The tabling could be for two weeks, two months or, as Finley put it, "two minutes."

It seemed certain however, that no final vote would be taken at today's joint meeting. "The National League just doesn't feel the climate is right for one right now," said an AL owner.

Formal votes can only be held at joint meetings and there is enough opposition to an immediate one on Kuhn to assure the commissioner's backers being able to avoid one today.

That will give O'Malley and Kuhn's other supporters time to break down the opposition to the commissioner. The question is whether they can change the mind of one of the four clubs opposed to Kuhn. Kuhn's problems with Finley date back to the 1972 and 1973 World Series when he slapped the Oakland owner with fines, because he paid performance bonuses to Gene Tenace and Joe Rudi after the '72 classic and then when he tried to fire second baseman Mike Andrews following two costly errors in the '73 Series.

AL Trades Mostly Have Proven Bad

AP Sports Writer

Baseball's open market — the preseason trading flurry — is a little like shooting craps in Las Vegas. "C'mon seven ... snake-eyes!"

Take the American League, for example.

The Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians took their turn at the table and the dice came up snake-eyes.

The Oakland A's took their roll and, lo and behold, lucky seven.

Like Vegas, Monte Carlo or the racetrack, some clubs came out ahead and others were big losers. But those who played it right, played it carefully, came out about even or slightly ahead — the Boston Red Sox, Milwaukee Brewers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles.

The Tigers wound up the 1973-74 season in last place in the AL Eastern Division and went to the trading block with gusto. They're still last in their division.

They dealt pitcher Woody Fryman to Montreal of the National League for catcher Terry Humphrey and pitcher Tom Walker. Humphrey, who's now out with a shoulder injury, has played in only 10 games and Walker has a 3-6 record. On the other hand, Fryman is 7-6 for the Expos with a respectable 3.07 earned run average.

Detroit also began Ed Brinkman's winding route to the Yankees by trading the shortstop to St. Louis through San Diego and getting first baseman Nate Colbert. Colbert, hitting around .150 and headed for what appeared to be a team strike out record, then was sold to Montreal.

Cleveland, one game ahead of the Tigers at the All Star break, was in the market for fresh pitching, and they couldn't have started out worse. They gave up pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Bosman to Oakland for Blue Moon Odom, who wanted nothing to do with the Tribe. Finally Odom was traded to Atlanta for Roric Harrison, 4-2 with a 4.10 ERA.

In all, the Indians traded for pitchers Harrison, Jim Bibby, Jackie Brown, Don Hood and Dave LaRoche, "virtually our entire pitching staff," a spokesman said. But in the Hood deal, the Indians also got first baseman Boog Powell from the Baltimore Orioles, and that hasn't disappointed them.

Besides getting Jim Perry, 3-1 with Oakland, and Dick Bosman, 6-1 with the A's, from Cleveland, the Western Division leaders picked up pitchers Stan Bahnsen from the Chicago White Sox and Sonny Siebert from San Diego.

But the A's most significant trade may have been the one for designated hitter Billy Williams, which sent to the Chicago Cubs infielder Manny Trillo and relievers Bob Locker and Darold Knowles.

Williams has been in all but one of Oakland's games, has 44 RBI and 12 home runs.

The Red Sox, whose inexplicable slide at the end of last season dropped them from first to third in the AL East, stayed out of the market this year, making only a minor deal that sent veteran Tommy Harper — and his big salary — to California for utility man Bob Heise. And the Red Sox are back in first.

Milwaukee's most notable trade, of course, was the one that brought Hank Aaron back to County Stadium from Atlanta for Dave May who had an abysmal 1973-74 season for the Brewers and now is a Braves' backup.

The most even-up trade in the majors involved the Yankees, who went to the NL's San Francisco Giants to get Bobby Bonds for Bobby Murcer — All-Star for All-Star. Bonds is hitting only .238 but has 47 RBI, 20 homers and 16 stolen bases. Murcer is hitting .307 with 51 RBI and 10 homers.

Besides Bonds and Brinkman, the Yanks also got reserve catcher Ed Herrmann from the White Sox and outfielder Rich Coggins from the Expos on waivers.

Coggins came to the Yanks by way of Montreal. He started out the season with the Orioles, who unloaded Coggins, pitcher Dave McNally and minor leaguer Bill Kirkpatrick to the Expos for pitcher Mike Torrez and Ken Singleton in what turned out to be one of the most disastrous trades the NL made with the junior circuit.

Torrez is 9-5 with the Orioles and Manager Earl Weaver says he "should have a better record, but he's been the unfortunate guy with the bullpen letting a couple of games get away from him."

Singleton leads the club with a .298 batting average, 64 walks, and he has 24 RBI.

Montreal waived Coggins, McNally retired and Kirkpatrick is still a minor leaguer.

The California Angels only had one trade of note — the one with Boston — but it was a good one for them. Harper, the No. 3 base stealer among active players when the season began, is credited by the Angels with developing the club's strongest trait — its speed.

He's been coaching Mickey Rivers, Jerry Remy, Morris Nettles and Dave Collins with their baserunning. Rivers has 46 stolen bases, Remy 22, Nettles 22, Collins 11 in just one month with the Angels, and Harper has 17 himself.

Harper also is challenging for leading designated hitter honors with a .272 average.

Texas is the only other AL club that has done a significant amount of trading, sending Bibby and Brown to Cleveland for the other pitching Perry, Gaylord. The maneuver hasn't turned out particularly well for either club. Gaylord is 1-5 with the Rangers. Bibby is 4-9 and Brown 0-1 with a 5.25 ERA for Cleveland.

Minnesota's only trade sent Bobby Darwin to Milwaukee for John Briggs, and, once again, the Brewers got the best of that one. Briggs has only one hit in his last 25 at bats, while Darwin has 10 homers and 28 RBI.

Kansas City was involved in no major trades but picked up Harmon Killebrew after the Twins waived him. Killebrew is hitting only .210 but has 10 homers and 33 RBI.

Motorcycle Races Set For Logan

The Lancaster Motorcycle Club will hold the 3rd Annual Professional Motorcycle Race July 27, at Logan Fairgrounds.

The $1200 dollar purse will attract some of the top riders from all over the United States. The action packed afternoon of racing will start with practice at noon and races at 2 p.m.

The races will be held on the Fairgrounds 1/2 mile dirt track.

The beginning novice riders will be riding up to 360 cc motorcycles. The junior and expert riders will be racing the powerful 750 cc.

The riders will be wearing bright colored leather suits, helmets, and gloves for protection and a steel plated left shoe that will enable them to broad slide their motorcycles through the curves.

The race program will consist of six lap qualifying heat races and the first three place winners of the heat races will advance to the main finals. There will be a total of 15 exciting races that will please any race fan.

Bowie Kuhn Fights For Job

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn clung tenuously to his job today with the American and National leagues expected to table a final vote on extension of his term of office.

Kuhn came perilously close to being fired Wednesday when four American League clubs opposed his rehiring at baseball's summer meetings. Kuhn, whose seven-year term of office expires Aug. 12, 1976, needs nine of the 12 votes in each league to continue in office.

He had all 12 in the National League but only eight in the American. The opposition was led by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley and Baltimore boss Jerald Hoffberger, both longtime opponents of Kuhn. They apparently convinced the New York Yankees and Texas Rangers to join them in opposing Kuhn.

The AL clubs spent six hours discussing the delicate issue Wednesday and then sent word to their National League counterparts of what one owner called, "our straw vote."

That didn't sit too well with the Nationals, where Kuhn's support was reported to be complete. At that point, the NL bosses invited the AL owners into their session for an informal meeting. The single matter to be discussed was Kuhn.

For another hour, the NL, led by influential Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, tried to change the minds of Kuhn's opponents. But the only progress they made was to get the AL owners to agree to table the matter.

At that point, AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney were dispatched to Kuhn's suite to report what had happened. They told him the leagues wanted to table the matter. At first, the commissioner balked at that step.

"As I understand it," said one owner, "the commissioner said he wanted a vote taken today. Then he changed his mind and said it would be all right to table it."

That left Kuhn's job in something of a limbo status. The tabling could be for two weeks, two months or, as Finley put it, "two minutes."

It seemed certain however, that no final vote would be taken at today's joint meeting. "The National League just doesn't feel the climate is right for one right now," said an AL owner.

Formal votes can only be held at joint meetings and there is enough opposition to an immediate one on Kuhn to assure the commissioner's backers being able to avoid one today.

That will give O'Malley and Kuhn's other supporters time to break down the opposition to the commissioner. The question is whether they can change the mind of one of the four clubs opposed to Kuhn. Kuhn's problems with Finley date back to the 1972 and 1973 World Series when he slapped the Oakland owner with fines, because he paid performance bonuses to Gene Tenace and Joe Rudi after the '72 classic and then when he tried to fire second baseman Mike Andrews following two costly errors in the '73 Series.

Black Couple Adopts Vietnamese Orphan

MIAMI (AP) — "We're in a financial tight ourselves, but all I could think of was we throw away enough food to feed another child," says a black couple of their adoption of a Vietnamese youngster.

Ed and Sylvia Tucker said they became interested in adopting a Vietnamese child several months ago after watching a news program about the deteriorating situation in Southeast Asia.

"It was awful — those poor babies," Mrs. Tucker said Wednesday. "And then we saw the little black faces. One scene showed a Viet Cong with a child hanging from a stick."

"My husband watched with tears in his eyes. I knew it was the children fathered by Americans who would suffer more if they had to remain there — especially children who had black fathers."

She said the next day she applied for a black Vietnamese child.

Officials at the Catholic Service Bureau said few blacks have made similar moves.

"One problem is that we live in a white society and many blacks feel they will be turned down," said Elizabeth Manning, adoption-foster care supervisor.

"Then, too, there's the financial side. A lot of blacks feel that adoption is simply out of their financial range. But we waive fees in some situations."

The Tuckers, who already had a 3-year-old daughter, Tifphame, but felt they couldn't afford another pregnancy, said they were first told they would need at least $725 to adopt a Vietnamese youngster.

"I said, 'Hey man, I can't afford that,'" said Tucker, a chef. "Later, we were told to worry only about the $25 immigration fee."

Three weeks later, the Tuckers had their new son, Kahseim. The black 3-year-old's new name means "wise person."

Now, Kahseim is learning a new language, learning to eat new foods and trying to get along with a new puppy.

"At first, we were so strange to him," Mrs. Tucker said. "I don't think he had ever seen a black person before. The first night, he cried all night."

"He'd lost most of his hair and he had intestinal parasites. The day after we got him, I took him to the doctor and started him on a good health food diet and vitamins and iron. Now look at him."

Wallace Visit

Not Endorsement

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Tipps, state Democratic chairman, insists that his April visit with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace should not be interpreted as an endorsement of Wallace's potential candidacy for president.

Tipps explained his position in a letter July 9 to the 63 members of the Democratic executive committee in Montgomery County.

"All legitimate points of view have a right to be expressed within the Democratic party," Tipps wrote. The party cannot deny "Wallace the right to express his views. . . We are a big, responsible party with room for views from every part of the political spectrum."

Rep. C. J. McLin Jr., D-36 Dayton, said that Tipps should visit with other Democratic presidential hopefuls since he talked with Wallace.

Advertisers Nominate Pierson Once Again

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Philip Follette, president of the Ohio Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, was one of 34 members of the committee that renominated Robert H. Pierson of Washington for a third term as head of the 112-year-old church.

The church is holding its 52nd World Congress here. Pierson was reelected following the committee's recommendation.

SOUTHEAST—Fair and mild tonight. Lows in the mid 60s. Partly cloudy and continued warm Friday. Highs in the mid to upper 80s. Chance of rain 20 per cent tonight and Friday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio had a night of generally mild temperatures, light winds and clear skies. Showers that were scattered in northwestern counties late Wednesday dissipated about sunset last night.

It was not a completely dry night though. Radar showed a shower in the extreme west central section a few hours before dawn. At the same time, there was a second shower in West Virginia, just south of Chesapeake.

Temperatures at dawn were in the low 60s. The morning weather map is generally featureless. A high pressure system was centered well off the Atlantic coast extending inland to the Mississippi Valley.

LCI Inmate

Death Probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A prisoner at the Lebanon Correctional Institution died late Wednesday after being brought here for treatment of an apparent drug overdose.

Joe Ashley, a spokesman for the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections, identified the man as James Edward Johnson, 21, of Springfield.

Ashley said Johnson was admitted to Lebanon in June, 1974, to serve a one-to-five-year term for forgery.

Prison officials speculate that Johnson may have injected himself with a dissolved solution of a pain reliever received from the dispensary at Lebanon, Ashley said.

An investigation is continuing.

Ohio Festivals Start

CROOKSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two southeastern Ohio festivals will be underway this weekend. The Ohio Hills Folk Festival opened Wednesday and will run through Sunday at Quaker City. The Crooksville-Foseville Pottery Festival begins Friday and runs through Sunday.

Russians Want Some Beer Since They're Kept On Ship

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Russian sailors confined aboard the freighter Volkhovges here say they need some beer to pass the time until they leave Friday what they consider to be an inhospitable city.

The 49 crew members, who were detained on the ship by officials of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said it is ironic that Americans and Russians can agree to meet in space but they cannot agree about meetings on earth.

The sailors leaned over railings to talk to a reporter for the Cleveland Plain Dealer who spoke to them through an interpreter.

Immigration officials have refused to permit them to leave the ship because ship's officers have refused to answer questions about the crew members' Communist Party affiliations.

"I'm happy they are meeting in the skies and it is a pity we cannot meet on earth," said Vladislav Bucevic, a crew member lounging on the ship's deck.

Other crew members said they would like to have American beer to mix with their vodka. They said the mix was a perfect tonic while sunbathing.

The crew had to cancel a soccer game with sailors aboard a Brazilian merchant ship because of the detention order.

An official of Nordship Agencies, Inc., the ship's agent, has said he thought immigration officials were being overly zealous in detaining the crew. But the immigration district director here said his staff was upholding regulations. The ship brought in a cargo of aluminum ingots.

Set Fence Erection

On Huron Harbor Pier

HURON, Ohio (AP) — Army engineers will erect within a week a fence to prevent access to most of the west pier in Huron Harbor.

The engineers said the fence will stand at the Huron Inner Light, about 800 feet out on the pier, and will remain there until Nov. 1, when construction of a diked disposal area will be nearly completed.

The fence is being put up for safety reasons, the engineers said. The disposal area will be capable of holding material dredged from the harbor over the next 10 years, Col. Bernard C. Hughes said.

Libbey-Owens Ford Notes Income Drop

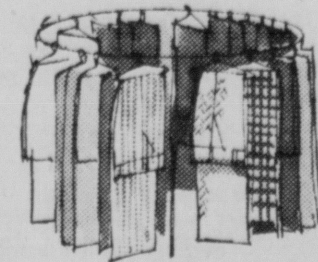

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Libbey-Owens-Ford Co. Tuesday reported its net income for six months ending June 30 as $13,535,000, equal to 99 cents a common share.

In the similar period last year, net earnings were $15,971,000, equal to $1.24 a common share.

In 1862, David Farragut became the first admiral in the U.S. Navy.

Black Couple Adopts Vietnamese Orphan

MIAMI (AP) — "We're in a financial tight ourselves, but all I could think of was we throw away enough food to feed another child," says a black couple of their adoption of a Vietnamese youngster.

Ed and Sylvia Tucker said they became interested in adopting a Vietnamese child several months ago after watching a news program about the deteriorating situation in Southeast Asia.

"It was awful — those poor babies," Mrs. Tucker said Wednesday. "And then we saw the little black faces. One scene showed a Viet Cong with a child hanging from a stick.

"My husband watched with tears in his eyes. I knew it was the children fathered by Americans who would suffer more if they had to remain there — especially children who had black fathers."

She said the next day she applied for a black Vietnamese child.

Officials at the Catholic Service Bureau said few blacks have made similar moves.

"One problem is that we live in a white society and many blacks feel they will be turned down," said Elizabeth Manning, adoption-foster care supervisor.

"Then, too, there's the financial side. A lot of blacks feel that adoption is simply out of their financial range. But we waive fees in some situations."

The Tuckers, who already had a 3-year-old daughter, Tifphanie, but felt they couldn't afford another pregnancy, said they were first told they would need at least $725 to adopt a Vietnamese youngster.

"I said, 'Hey man, I can't afford that,'" said Tucker, a chef. "Later, we were told to worry only about the $25 immigration fee."

Three weeks later, the Tuckers had their new son, Kahseim. The black 3-year-old's new name means "wise person."

Now, Kahseim is learning a new language, learning to eat new foods and trying to get along with a new puppy.

"At first, we were so strange to him," Mrs. Tucker said. "I don't think he had ever seen a black person before. The first night, he cried all night."

"He'd lost most of his hair and he had intestinal parasites. The day after we got him, I took him to the doctor and started him on a good health food diet and vitamins and iron. Now look at him."

Wallace Visit Not Endorsement

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Tipps, state Democratic chairman, insists that his April visit with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace should not be interpreted as an endorsement of Wallace's potential candidacy for president.

Tipps explained his position in a letter July 9 to the 63 members of the Democratic executive committee in Montgomery County.

"All legitimate points of view have a right to be expressed within the Democratic party," Tipps wrote. The party cannot deny "Wallace the right to express his views. . . We are a big, responsible party with room for views from every part of the political spectrum."

Rep. C. J. McLin Jr., D-36 Dayton, said that Tipps should visit with other Democratic presidential hopefuls since he talked with Wallace.

Adventists Nominate Pierson Once Again

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Philip Follette, president of the Ohio Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, was one of 34 members of the committee that renominated Robert H. Pierson of Washington for a third term as head of the 112-year-old church.

The church is holding its 52nd World Congress here. Pierson was reelected following the committee's recommendation.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio had a night of generally mild temperatures, light winds and clear skies. Showers that were scattered in northwestern counties late Wednesday dissipated about sunset last night.

It was not a completely dry night though. Radar showed a shower in the extreme west central section a few hours before dawn. At the same time, there was a second shower in West Virginia, just south of Chesapeake.

Temperatures at dawn were in the low 60s. The morning weather map is generally featureless. A high pressure system was centered well off the Atlantic coast extending inland to the Mississippi Valley.

LCI Inmate Death Probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A prisoner at the Lebanon Correctional Institution died late Wednesday after being brought here for treatment of an apparent drug overdose.

Joe Ashley, a spokesman for the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections, identified the man as James Edward Johnson, 21, of Springfield.

Ashley said Johnson was admitted to Lebanon in June, 1974, to serve a one-to-five-year term for forgery.

Prison officials speculate that Johnson may have injected himself with a dissolved solution of a pain reliever received from the dispensary at Lebanon, Ashley said.

An investigation is continuing.

The Haynes United Methodist Missionary Women met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Burnell Karshner. The president, Mrs. Wayne Harmon, was in charge. The group sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "America." Members responded to roll call by naming a summer flower.

Get well cards were signed and sent to Mrs. Florence Iles and Tom Smith. The hostess used the theme "The Spirit of '76" throughout the program and contests. She read the 23rd psalm and a reading "My Soul Garden."

One of her contests was to have each person pick out articles in her living room that were over 50 years old. Mrs. Karshner has a souvenir that Miss Alpha Poling gave to her pupils when she taught in a one-room school in 1909.

Mrs. Robert Reid gave two readings, "The Little Red School House" and "Grandma of Yesterday". Mrs. Howard Thompson joined the organization. Lovely refreshments were served to 12 members and guests. The August meeting will be a family picnic.

Mrs. Ella Williams, president, presided when the Laurel Hills Women's Society met on last Thursday evening at the church. Mrs. Norwood Jinks presented the lesson on patriotism and religion. Opening prayer was by Mrs. F. E. Swackhammer.

The scripture was read by Mrs. E. F. Disbennett. Spiritual Life "Two Golden Days" was presented by Mrs. O. F. McFadden. There was a special prayer by the group for persons in the community. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Williams.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Swackhammer and Mrs. Disbennett, to 11 members and two guests, Angie Williard and Kim Thompson.

Mrs. David Hartley was guest of honor at a baby shower on July 7 at the Church of God. A stork centered the refreshment table and the cake was decorated with blue and pink baby shoes and flowers. A clothes line pinned with diapers was behind the gift table. Three contests were enjoyed.

Mrs. Robert Ried gave a reading "The Mother Job", she also offered prayer before refreshments were served to the guest of honor Mrs. Hartley, Wanda Smith, Mrs. David Stump, Kay Fortner, Mrs. Lester Ebert, Mrs. Keith Poling, Debbie Poling, Madeline Claypool, Mrs. Alma Radabaugh, Mrs. Raymond Sowers, Mrs. Lynn Summers and Bobby, and Tracy and Scotty Hartley.

Mrs. Clyde Stinard and daughter Kim were hostesses at their home on Friday night with a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Martha Dumm. A blue and gold color scheme was used.

Those present included Mrs. Dan DeLong Sr., Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. Lillian Moss, Miss Jean Bigham, Mrs. Bill Gooley, Miss Christy DeLong, Robin Strawser, Cathy Jones, Mrs. Beulah Temple, Mrs. W. K. Dumm, Miss Karen Maxson, Mrs. George Maxson, Mrs. Doris Edwards, Mrs. Lloyd Whisler, Mrs. Jacob Lehman, Mrs. Ramon Maxson and Rama Lee, Mrs. Jim Dumm, Mrs. Wilson Ross Jr., Mrs. Harry Mac Ross, Mrs. Roger Egan, Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. Thomas Moore, Mrs. Robert Dumm, Pam Muskgrove.

Contest winners were Mrs. Mary Lou Ross, Mrs. Nancy Maxson, Cindy Gooley, Theta DeLong and Mrs. Eleanora Maxson. Miss Dumm and Kenny Temple will be married on Aug. 2.

Mrs. Evelyn Notestone of Lancaster, Mrs. Dale VanCuren and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Notestone of Laurelville vacationed last week at Atlantic City, N.J. and enjoyed the historic town of Smithville, N.J., south of Atlantic City.

Along the way of the Pennsylvania Turnpike they visited the Hershey plant in Hershey, Pa. They also visited the Amish community at Lancaster, Pa.

Mrs. Bessie Fetherolf of Route 2, Laurelville entertained with a family dinner at her home last Sunday.

Enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Azbell (Blanche Fetherolf) and son Ben of Port Richey, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fetherolf, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fetherolf and daughter Jennifer of Carroll; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fetherolf of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Fetherolf and son Keith of Hamden; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Fetherolf of South Bloomingville; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller (Mildred Fetherolf) and daughter Penny and Jean Valentine of near Amanda; Linda, George and John Blake and Mark Bias of Huntington, W. Va.; Mae Bias and Richard Fetherolf of Route 1, Laurelville; and Mildred Fetherolf of Laurelville.

This was the first time in 17 years that Mrs. Fetherolf had all of her children at home together.

Mr. and Mrs. Damon Pontious, their daughter Carolyn Ebert and her daughter Julie recently enjoyed a trip through a number of southern states. They enjoyed seeing the Stephen Foster play at Bardstown, Ky.; visited Look Out Mountain, Ruby Falls and Gatlingsburg, Tenn. The highlight of the trip was visiting Damon's old navy buddy, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McCluskey of Fayette, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Tisdale and son Jeffrey have returned from a 10-day vacation in Florida. Three days were spent visiting Disney World. On the 4th of July they attended the NASCAR races at Daytona Beach. On the way home they enjoyed the Smoky Mountains and came thru Gatlingsburg, Tenn.

On last Friday Mrs. Jane Good of Lancaster, Mrs. Vera Downs of Circleville and Mrs. June Poling were in Columbus where they visited their cousin, Georgia Nida, who is a patient in the West Minister Presbyterian home.

In Ashville they called on another cousin, Mrs. Harold Flowers, who recently had surgery. In Circleville they stopped at Pickaway Manor where they visited their aunt Mrs. Laura Heffner and friends of the family, Mrs. Laura Whisler, Mrs. Alice Morris and Mrs. Lana Dix, all patients at the Manor.

Those who enjoyed a cook out at the home of Mrs. Ethel Mercer on Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Flowers (Eleanor Mercer), children Brian and Carla and Brian's friend of Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Bigham, Jean Ann, Tim, Benji, Paul and John, Mr. and Mrs. George Haughn and two sons, Don Mercer and two sons. The affair was to celebrate Eleanor's birthday.

Mrs. Lula White has moved from Route 1, Laurelville to the New Senior Citizen apartment building in Logan.

Mrs. Lester Ebert and Mrs. Robert Reid are spending this week at the Warsaw Church of God camp meeting.

Ray Shoemaker and four grandchildren of Lancaster were Thursday visitors of the Wayne Harmon family.

Valerie and Tara Fausnaugh of Circleville visited this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid. Mrs. Francis Harmon and son Steve were Wednesday afternoon callers of the Reids and on Wednesday morning the Reids visited the Robert Harper family of near South Bloomingville.

Mrs. Nelle Swackhammer visited her niece Miss Mary Barclay at the Ross Medical Center on Sunday. Miss Barclay was one of two women who were shot in their cars at Central Center shopping area on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Florence Iles has returned home after spending a week in Ross Medical Center.

Miss Kathy Strous is also at home after being a patient in Berger Hospital for one week.

Three lashes for the correspondent who got a name wrong last week. Mrs. Helen Winner spent three weeks with her niece and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arledge (Alice Jinks) of Sanford, Fla. She returned to Laurelville with the Arledge's son Bob and daughter Sue who are visiting Ohio relatives.

Last week they were guests of their grandfather, Harley Jinks and Mrs. Jinks. This week they are visiting their brothers Ron and David and their families of Columbus before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downs of Circleville were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reid spent several days this week with their daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Biery and sons of near Rawson. Their grandson David returned home with them to attend the carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and son Elwood spent from Tuesday till Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Bessie Stetson, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Burlinski of Windsor.

Couple Buys Colonial Home; Plans To Ship It To Illinois

ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For 20 years, Arnold Skromme and his wife collected 18th Century furniture. Now, they have found a colonial house to match and plan to ship it home to Illinois piece by piece.

Skromme has been dismantling the 217-year-old, six-room frame house for the past two weeks and soon will pack the boards, beams, split-board lathing and even original "rose head" nails into a freight car bound for Moline, Ill.

"This is a home for the rest of our lives. It will be the last we'll ever build," the 58-year-old agricultural engineer for John Deere Co. said Tuesday.

He estimated that the project will cost "between $50,000 and $100,000, at least."

Along with six college students, his wife, a son and a neighbor from Moline, Skromme has marked and numbered every disassembled piece of the house.

According to state records, the house was built in 1758. It has never had electricity, water or plumbing. It relies on six fire places converging into a single chimney for heat. No one has lived in it regularly since 1950.

"We've been collecting 18th Century furniture and now it's all in a modern ranch-style house and it doesn't fit at all. We wanted to get a house for our furniture," Skromme said.

He said he had looked at more than 50 old houses from eastern Pennsylvania to northern New England.

Last August, he came upon the Dame homestead, as the house here is known. He bought it for an undisclosed price.

Local historians say the house was built by Jabez Dame in 1758 on land bought by his father two years earlier. Twice it was attacked by Indians and once suffered fire damage. Except from 1854 to 1866, the 27-by 37-foot house was continually owned by the Dame family until Eldredge Dame agreed to sell to Skromme.

Skromme said that when the project is finished, only a granite foundation, some timber used in a renovation project in 1842 and the six-fireplace chimney will remain in New Hampshire.

SALES TRAINEE—O. G. Johnson, general manager of the Circleville Owens-Illinois Box Plant, announces the appointment of L. Richard Whately as sales trainee. Whately, a Toledo native and a graduate of Notre Dame University, will be training to become a professional salesman with Owens-Illinois. His most recent job was that of general manager and head teaching pro of a tennis club in South Bend, Ind. Whately and newlywed bride, Sharon, will reside at the Nicholas Square apartments.

One of her contests was to have each person pick out articles in her living room that were over 50 years old. Mrs. Karshner has a souvenir that Miss Alpha Poling gave to her pupils when she taught in a one-room school in 1909. Mrs. Robert Reid gave two readings, "The Little Red School House" and "Grandma of Yesterday." Mrs. Howard Thompson joined the organization. Lovely refreshments were served to 12 members and guests. The August meeting will be a family picnic.

Mrs. Ella Williams, president, presided when the Laurel Hills Women's Society met on last Thursday evening at the church. Mrs. Norwood Jinks presented the lesson on patriotism and religion. Opening prayer was by Mrs. F. E. Swackhammer.

The scripture was read by Mrs. E. F. Disbennett. Spiritual Life "Two Golden Days" was presented by Mrs. O. F. McFadden. There was a special prayer by the group for persons in the community. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Williams.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Swackhammer and Mrs. Disbennett, to 11 members and two guests, Angie Willard and Kim Thompson.

Mrs. David Hartley was guest of honor at a baby shower on July 7 at the Church of God. A stork centered the refreshment table and the cake was decorated with blue and pink baby shoes and flowers. A clothes line pinned with diapers was behind the gift table. Three contests were enjoyed.

Mrs. Robert Ried gave a reading "The Mother Job", she also offered prayer before refreshments were served to the guest of honor Mrs. Hartley, Wanda Smith, Mrs. David Stump, Kay Fortner, Mrs. Lester Ebert, Mrs. Keith Poling, Debbie Poling, Madeline Claypool, Mrs. Alma Radabaugh, Mrs. Raymond Sowers, Mrs. Lynn Summers and Bobby, and Tracy and Scotty Hartley.

Mrs. Clyde Stinard and daughter Kim were hostesses at their home on Friday night with a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Martha Dumm. A blue and gold color scheme was used.

Those present included Mrs. Dan DeLong Sr., Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. Lillian Moss, Miss Jean Bigham, Mrs. Bill Gooley, Miss Christy DeLong, Robin Strawser, Cathy Jones, Mrs. Beulah Temple, Mrs. W. K. Dumm, Miss Karen Maxson, Mrs. George Maxson, Mrs. Doris Edwards, Mrs. Lloyd Whisler, Mrs. Jacob Lehman, Mrs. Ramon Maxson and Rama Lee, Mrs. Jim Dumm, Mrs. Wilson Ross Jr., Mrs. Harry Mac Ross, Mrs. Roger Egan, Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. Thomas Moore, Mrs. Robert Dumm, Pam Muskgrove.

Contest winners were Mrs. Mary Lou Ross, Mrs. Nancy Maxson, Cindy Gooley, Theta DeLong and Mrs. Eleanor Maxson. Miss Dumm and Kenny Temple will be married on Aug. 2.

Mrs. Evelyn Notestone of Lancaster, Mrs. Dale VanCuren and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Notestone of Laurelville vacationed last week at Atlantic City, N.J. and enjoyed the historic town of Smithville, N.J., south of Atlantic City.

Along the way of the Pennsylvania Turnpike they visited the Hershey plant in Hershey, Pa. They also visited the Amish community at Lancaster, Pa.

Mrs. Bessie Fetherolf of Route 2, Laurelville entertained with a family dinner at her home last Sunday.

Enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Azbell (Blanche Fetherolf) and son Ben of Port Richey, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fetherolf, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fetherolf and daughter Jennifer of Carroll; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fetherolf of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Fetherolf and son Keith of Hamden; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Fetherolf of South Bloomingville; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller (Mildred Fetherolf) and daughter Penny and Jean Valentine of near Amanda; Linda, George and John Blake and Mark Bias of Huntington, W. Va.; Mae Bias and Richard Fetherolf of Route 1, Laurelville; and Mildred Fetherolf of Laurelville.

This was the first time in 17 years that Mrs. Fetherolf had all of her children at home together.

Mr. and Mrs. Damon Pontious, their daughter Carolyn Ebert and her daughter Julie recently enjoyed a trip through a number of southern states. They enjoyed seeing the Stephen Foster play at Bardstown, Ky.; visited Look Out Mountain, Ruby Falls and Gatlinburg, Tenn. The highlight of the trip was visiting Damon's old navy buddy, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McCluskey of Fayette, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Tisdale and son Jeffrey have returned from a 10-day vacation in Florida. Three days were spent visiting Disney World. On the 4th of July they attended the NASCAR races at Daytona Beach. On the way home they enjoyed the Smoky Mountains and came thru Gatlinburg, Tenn.

On last Friday Mrs. Jane Good of Lancaster, Mrs. Vera Downs of Circleville and Mrs. June Poling were in Columbus where they visited their cousin, Georgia Nida, who is a patient in the West Minister Presbyterian home.

In Ashville they called on another cousin, Mrs. Harold Flowers, who recently had surgery. In Circleville they stopped at Pickaway Manor where they visited their aunt Mrs. Laura Heffner and friends of the family, Mrs. Laura Whisler, Mrs. Alice Morris and Mrs. Lana Dix, all patients at the Manor.

Those who enjoyed a cook out at the home of Mrs. Ethel Mercer on Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Flowers (Eleanor Mercer), children Brian and Carla and Brian's friend of Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Bigham, Jean Ann, Tim, Benji, Paul and John, Mr. and Mrs. George Haughn and two sons, Don Mercer and two sons. The affair was to celebrate Eleanor's birthday.

Mrs. Lula White has moved from Route 1, Laurelville to the New Senior Citizen apartment building in Logan.

Mrs. Lester Ebert and Mrs. Robert Reid are spending this week at the Warsaw Church of God camp meeting.

Ray Shoemaker and four grandchildren of Lancaster were Thursday visitors of the Wayne Harmon family.

Valerie and Tara Fausnaugh of Circleville visited this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid. Mrs. Francis Harmon and son Steve were Wednesday afternoon callers of the Reids and on Wednesday morning the Reids visited the Robert Harper family of near South Bloomingville.

Mrs. Nelle Swackhammer visited her niece Miss Mary Barclay at the Ross Medical Center on Sunday. Miss Barclay was one of two women who were shot in their cars at Central Center shopping area on Saturday afternoon.

The man believed to have done the shooting was later found dead in a wooded area behind the shopping center.

Miss Barclay who was shot in the temple was listed in fair condition on Sunday. The other victim, Mrs. Robert Clark of 280 Vine Street, Chillicothe, underwent surgery for a bullet wound in the left shoulder.

Mrs. Florence Iles has returned home after spending a week in Ross Medical Center.

Miss Kathy Strous is also at home after being a patient in Berger Hospital for one week.

Three lashes for the correspondent who got a name wrong last week. Mrs. Helen Winner spent three weeks with her niece and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arledge (Alice Jinks) of Sanford, Fla. She returned to Laurelville with the Arledge's son Bob and daughter Sue who are visiting Ohio relatives.

Last week they were guests of their grandfather, Harley Jinks and Mrs. Jinks. This week they are visiting their brothers Ron and David and their families of Columbus before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downs of Circleville were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reid spent several days this week with their daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Biery and sons of near Rawson. Their grandson David returned home with them to attend the carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and son Elwood spent from Tuesday till Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Bessie Stetson, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Burlinski of Windsor.

Celesta Hoy spent Sunday afternoon with her cousin, Mrs. Edith Austin of Lancaster. Mrs. Austin's husband is a patient in Riverside hospital where he recently underwent back surgery.

Couple Buys Colonial Home; Plans To Ship It To Illinois

ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For 20 years, Arnold Skromme and his wife collected 18th Century furniture. Now, they have found a colonial house to match and plan to ship it home to Illinois piece by piece.

Skromme has been dismantling the 217-year-old, six-room frame house for the past two weeks and soon will pack the boards, beams, split-board lathing and even original "rose head" nails into a freight car bound for Moline, Ill. "This is a home for the rest of our lives. It will be the last we'll ever build," the 58-year-old agricultural engineer for John Deere Co. said Tuesday.

He estimated that the project will cost "between $50,000 and $100,000, at least."

Along with six college students, his wife, a son and a neighbor from Moline, Skromme has marked and numbered every disassembled piece of the house.

According to state records, the house was built in 1758. It has never had electricity, water or plumbing. It relies on six fire places converging into a single chimney for heat. No one has lived in it regularly since 1950.

"We've been collecting 18th Century furniture and now it's all in a modern ranch-style house and it doesn't fit at all. We wanted to get a house for our furniture," Skromme said.

He said he had looked at more than 50 old houses from eastern Pennsylvania to northern New England.

Last August, he came upon the Dame homestead, as the house here is known. He bought it for an undisclosed price.

Letter Carriers Rip Kokomo Plan

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mention the Kokomo Plan to almost any letter carrier in Portland and you'll hear stories of exploitation and warnings of a nationwide walkout.

"It's not a computerized mail system," said one mailman. "It's a computerized way of treating people."

The Kokomo Plan, known formally as the Letter Carriers Route Evaluation System (LACRES), is a mail delivery experiment launched in Kokomo, Ind., last November and at Portland's Rose City station in February. Although 1,000 more postal stations are being considered for the test, Kokomo and Portland are the only places it's been implemented.

The Postal Service says its an overdue attempt to pare the fat from an inefficient delivery system; letter carriers dub it a simple speed-up aimed at eliminating 15,000 jobs.

James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said recently that unless the Kokomo Plan is discontinued after the Postal Service reviews it in August, "I have no alternative but to order a work stoppage."

Rademacher received authorization at the union's national convention last August to call a nationwide walkout, although postal unions are prohibited by law from striking. As early as January he said the Kokomo Plan just might make him do it.

"It's illegal," he said at the time, "and I am fully aware of the possibility of a jail sentence. But we must stop the mad attempts by management to dehumanize — robotize — our lives and existence."

Rademacher and other union leaders have also used the threat of a nationwide walkout to prod the Postal Service to speed up negotiations, currently in progress in Washington. The present contract expires Monday, and Rademacher claims the Postal Service is stalling on key issues.

On paper, the Kokomo Plan is simply a way to get the mail delivered by fewer people. Each carrier's route is dissected and measured — miles walked, steps climbed, restroom stops, coffee breaks, mail loads. The information is fed into a computer, along with the number of routes the Postal Service would like to eliminate at Rose City (four out of 38).

It's the computer's job to divide the workload evenly among the remaining routes. In theory, the carrier functions more efficiently, the public served as well or better and the Postal Service saves money.

The Postal Service says it's working. "We have squared up the routes," said Portland Postmaster Benjamin Luscher. "We have tried to set some kind of standard for letter carriers."

"They don't put in how tall you are, or how long your reach is or how heavy you are," says Robert Funge, president of the Portland letter carriers local. The result, he said, is a system that penalized the older carrier, the shorter female carrier — anyone who doesn't match the computer's arbitrary "average."

No-Smoking Areas Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee moved toward approval today of a bill requiring no-smoking areas to be established in most public buildings.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee recorded a 4-1 vote in favor of the bill in a morning session. The bill needed five votes for approval, but the roll call was left open for four absent members to cast votes on the bill.

The bill, redrafted by a sub-committee, requires no-smoking areas be established in all buildings with a capacity of 50 persons or more, except restaurants, bars, night clubs or bowling alleys.

It specifically requires nosmoking areas in all government-owned buildings and in theaters, auditoriums, classrooms, elevators, hospitals and nursing homes.

Persons who smoke in a designated no-smoking area could be fined up to $100.

Anchor Hocking Corp. Reports Net Income

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. Tuesday reported net income for the first six months of 1975 at $8,194,564, equal to $1.21 a common share.

Net earnings for the same period last year were $7,090,804 or $1.03 a common share.

KSU Danger Grew After Deaths

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The danger to Ohio National Guardsmen was never greater in May 1970 than moments after the Kent State University shootings, a former guard commander said Wednesday.

A federal jury also heard a university vice president testify that Gov. James Rhodes told Kent State officials a day before the shootings to stay out of campus security matters.

Within minutes after the guardsmen's steel-jacketed bullets hit 13 demonstrators, students began massing on a campus hillside across a commons from where the troops had retreated, according to then-Lt. Col. Charles R. Fassinger.

Fassinger, who had command of the troops during dispersal of a noontime antiwar rally and the shooting that followed, said the crowd was irrational. He said he heard the words "murder" and "kill."

"We were as close to being in trouble as we'd been that day," he told the court.

Fassinger said he ordered his men at ease and moved along their lines telling each one he should not fire without specific authorization. The moment passed.

The earlier shooting killed four and wounded nine, and the victims and their families are suing present or former guardsmen and state officials for $45 million in damages.

Defendants are Gov. James Rhodes, former Adj. Gen. Sylvester Del Corso, former Asst. Adj. Gen. Robert Canterbury, former Kent State President Robert White and 37 present or former guardsmen.

Rhodes ordered the troops to the campus during a weekend of rioting sparked by announcement of the U.S. military incursion into Cambodia.

For the first time, the panel of seven men and five women deciding the claims heard objections Wednesday to defense questions from other defense lawyers.

The objections came with Kent State Vice President David A. Ambler on the stand, as testimony drew near to establishing who had control of the campus and set in motion events that ended in the shooting.

Rhodes' attorney, R. Brooke Alloway, brought out on cross-examination that the governor did not mean to replace the Kent State administration but only to relieve it of primary responsibility for "controlling illegal behavior."

That testimony was challenged by attorney Robert Blakemore, representing Dr. White.

In answer to a question from Blakemore, a Kent State trustee, Ambler said he left his meeting with Rhodes with the impression the National Guard was in charge of the campus.

The question was objected to by Charles Brown, who is defending several guardsmen, but Blakemore was allowed to continue.

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. Tuesday reported net income for the first six months of 1975 at $8,194,564, equal to $1.21 a common share.

Net earnings for the same period last year were $7,090,804 or $1.03 a common share.

KSU Danger Grew After Deaths

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The danger to Ohio National Guardsmen was never greater in May 1970 than moments after the Kent State University shootings, a former guard commander said Wednesday.

A federal jury also heard a university vice president testify that Gov. James Rhodes told Kent State officials a day before the shootings to stay out of campus security matters.

Within minutes after the guardsmen's steel-jacketed bullets hit 13 demonstrators, students began massing on a campus hillside across a commons from where the troops had retreated, according to then-Lt. Col. Charles R. Fassinger.

Fassinger, who had command of the troops during dispersal of a noontime antiwar rally and the shooting that followed, said the crowd was irrational. He said he heard the words "murder" and "kill."

"We were as close to being in trouble as we'd been that day," he told the court.

Fassinger said he ordered his men at ease and moved along their lines telling each one he should not fire without specific authorization. The moment passed.

The earlier shooting killed four and wounded nine, and the victims and their families are suing present or former guardsmen and state officials for $45 million in damages.

Defendants are Gov. James Rhodes, former Adj. Gen. Sylvester Del Corso, former Asst. Adj. Gen. Robert Canterbury, former Kent State President Robert White and 37 present or former guardsmen.

Rhodes ordered the troops to the campus during a weekend of rioting sparked by announcement of the U.S. military incursion into Cambodia.

For the first time, the panel of seven men and five women deciding the claims heard objections Wednesday to defense questions from other defense lawyers.

The objections came with Kent State Vice President David A. Ambler on the stand, as testimony drew near to establishing who had control of the campus and set in motion events that ended in the shooting.

Rhodes' attorney, R. Brooke Alloway, brought out on cross-examination that the governor did not mean to replace the Kent State administration but only to relieve it of primary responsibility for "controlling illegal behavior."

That testimony was challenged by attorney Robert Blakemore, representing Dr. White.

In answer to a question from Blakemore, a Kent State trustee, Ambler said he left his meeting with Rhodes with the impression the National Guard was in charge of the campus.

The question was objected to by Charles Brown, who is defending several guardsmen, but Blakemore was allowed to continue.

AT 4-H CAMP—218 4-H members from Pickaway and Vinton Counties attended camp at Tar Hollow July 5-9. The campers were divided into six tribes for participation in the many different activities offered to them during their 4-day stay. Events that highlighted the camp were sporting competitions such as softball, basketball, volleyball, badmitten, and shuffleboard. The evenings were spent at get acquainted parties, dances, and campfires. At the campfires, campers recited the laws of the campfire, issued challenges to other tribes, and presented skits and yells. On the last evening the camp held a traditional candlelighting service with a party afterwards. The campers returned home Wednesday morning, exhausted, happy, with a few new friends and many memories of camp.

Police Charge Man Caught Outside Downtown Stores

Circleville Police Ptl. Ron Smith, who Tuesday night just missed nabbing an auto thief, apprehended a man early Thursday morning who he believes is responsible for the break-in and theft of merchandise and cash from two downtown businesses.

"Another 10 seconds, and I would have missed," said the patrolman, who filed breaking and entering and grand theft charges against Charles Hutchinson, 20, 223 S. Scioto St.

Ptl. Smith, patrolling alleys behind downtown stores 5:30 a.m. today, spotted a vehicle in the alley behind Sharff's 106 W. Main St., with its motor running and lights on.

The man he found inside the car was Hutchinson, who told the officer that he was having trouble with the vehicle.

The car, however, was owned by Paul Downard, who had apparently not given Hutchinson permission for its use.

Downard, contacted by telephone, did give Ptl. Smith permission to search the vehicle. And, inside, he found two boxes containing a tape player, three pairs of blue jeans, a sweater top, and a Second National Bank money bag containing $40.46 in change, and assorted jewelry.

Tags on the merchandise indicated they came from Sharff's, and its subsidiary, The Other Place.

After taking Hutchinson into custody, Ptl. Smith discovered that

City Hall Fight Won By Woman

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Armed with principle, tenacity and her typewriter, Betty Lancaster fought City Hall-and won.

On February 8, Mrs. Lancaster received a ticket for parking from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. in front of a theater. A sign on the meter said parking was prohibited during theater hours.

She paid the ticket. Then she began to think about it.

"How am I to know what the theater hours are when I park there before the theater opens?" said Mrs. Lancaster. "The $10 didn't bother me that much, the principle involved did."

After referring her complaint through two police departments, the city traffic department agreed that the signs pertaining to theater hours and possibly even the meters themselves should be removed.

So the signs came down. Then the meters came down. Finally Mrs. Lancaster wrote to the city solicitor asking for a refund.

Assistant City Solicitor Henry D. Hillman replied that the theater parking sign was not ambiguous.

Mrs. Lancaster answered Hillman with a letter asking for all her correspondence so she could forward it to City Manager William Donaldson. In the letter, she asked one final question: "If the signs weren't ambiguous, why were they taken down?"

Last week, she received a $10 check in the mail.

Erotic Zones Set In Dayton Area?

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Where will the erotic zones be?

The city Plan Board in this southwestern Ohio community of 245,000 is trying to answer that question.

Its staff has studied since early this year the idea of establishing a specific area where the city's adult bookstores, movie houses, body painting outlets and photography studios can be located.

Plan Board Director Anthony B. Char says the report will be ready in three or four months.

"We've got it as a work item, but it's not a high priority," Char said.

Couple Loses Man's Best Friend, Fifi

LOST POOCH—Fifi, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Thacker of Airy Acres Campground, has been missing from her home for the past two weeks. The Thackers are heart-broken about the mysterious disappearance but think Fifi was taken from the Kroger parking lot on Lancaster Pike.

Dog has long been called man's best friend and Mrs. Edith Thacker has just lost her best friend. The little lady stopped by the Herald Wednesday to run another ad requesting information leading to the return of her lost dog, Fifi.

Fifi was the only dog Mrs. Thacker and her husband Willard ever took into their hearts and they have had her for the past six years. With a mist in her eyes, Mrs. Thacker said the part Chihuahua-part poodle was given to them by a friend and had become part of the family.

The light colored female was thought by the Thackers to have jumped out of their parked car and taken from the Kroger parking lot on Lancaster Pike.

GTE Trains Installer

Franklin J. Mace of 627 Garden Parkway, a combination man, has received a certificate for completing a course in advanced key telephone installation and maintenance at General Telephone Co. of Ohio's technical training school in Marion.

This course includes procedures for installing and repairing electronic multi-line pushbutton telephones used by business customers.

A graduate of Circleville High School, he has been with the company for 10 years. He works in various exchanges in the company's Circleville district.

Mace previously completed several other specialized courses in the company's training program.

Battelle To Assist In Synthesization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battelle Laboratories in Columbus, Ohio, is one of four firms nationwide selected to participate in a major federal push to produce synthetic fuels from coal, U.S. Rep. Chalmers Wylie announced Wednesday.

Under a $703,000 contract with the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, Battelle will concentrate its efforts on developing the catalyst necessary to convert coal to methane, a gas that can be used interchangeably with natural gas.

Wylie said Battelle also will research a different gasification process called the Hydrane method, for which a pilot plant will be built at a yet undetermined site.

Couple Loses Man's Best Friend, Fifi

LOST POOCH—Fifi, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Thacker of Airy Acres Campground, has been missing from her home for the past two weeks. The Thackers are heart-broken about the mysterious disappearance but think Fifi was taken from the Kroger parking lot on Lancaster Pike.

Dog has long been called man's best friend and Mrs. Edith Thacker has just lost her best friend. The little lady stopped by the Herald Wednesday to run another ad requesting information leading to the return of her lost dog, Fifi.

Fifi was the only dog Mrs. Thacker and her husband Willard ever took into their hearts and they have had her for the past six years. With a mist in her eyes, Mrs. Thacker said the part Chihuahua-part poodle was given to them by a friend and had become part of the family.

The light colored female was thought by the Thackers to have jumped out of their parked car and taken from the Kroger parking lot on Lancaster Pike.

GTE Trains Installer

Franklin J. Mace of 627 Garden Parkway, a combination man, has received a certificate for completing a course in advanced key telephone installation and maintenance at General Telephone Co. of Ohio's technical training school in Marion.

This course includes procedures for installing and repairing electronic multi-line pushbutton telephones used by business customers.

A graduate of Circleville High School, he has been with the company for 10 years. He works in various exchanges in the company's Circleville district.

Mace previously completed several other specialized courses in the company's training program.

Battelle To Assist In Synthesisation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battelle Laboratories in Columbus, Ohio, is one of four firms nationwide selected to participate in a major federal push to produce synthetic fuels from coal, U.S. Rep. Chalmers Wylie announced Wednesday.

Under a $703,000 contract with the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, Battelle will concentrate its efforts on developing the catalyst necessary to convert coal to methane, a gas that can be used interchangeably with natural gas.

Wylie said Battelle also will research a different gasification process called the Hydrane method, for which a pilot plant will be built at a yet undetermined site.

Assembly Demos Take Aim At Rhodes Vetoes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats have drawn battle lines for an effort next week to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' line-item vetoes of several key sections in the $10.6 billion state budget.

At least one Republican would have to vote with the 59-member Democratic delegation to guarantee the three-fifths majority required to overturn a gubernatorial veto.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, tentatively set the Democratic challenge for next Wednesday. It will mark the legislature's first head-on confrontation with the Republican governor over a veto.

Rhodes rejected 72 items in the Democratic-sponsored budget, but most of the vetoes involved relatively minor nonmoney issues.

Democrats decided during a lengthy caucus Wednesday they would attempt to restore several appropriations and other items to the spending plan.

Riffe said Democrats would try to nullify vetoes of:

- A $4 million appropriation to fund a Democratic energy program.
- A $10 million special subsidy for the University of Cincinnati.
- A section that would have continued the tuition freeze at state-assisted colleges and universities.

"Every item that's been discussed here, there's 59 votes for," Riffe told newsmen. He was not so certain of prospects for gaining the one Republican vote needed to bypass the governor.

However, Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, left the door open for a possible compromise among the 40-member GOP contingent.

"Primarily, we'll be voting to sustain the governor's vetoes," he said. "There are a couple of areas we're looking at for review." Kurfess did not elaborate.

Democrats have one vote to spare in the Senate, assuming the 21-member delegation can close ranks. It split recently on a vote to confirm a Rhodes' cabinet appointee.

Riffe said Democrats will introduce a resolution later this week asking Atty. Gen. William J. Brown for an opinion on the constitutionality of one Rhodes' veto made after the bill was filed with the secretary of state.

Democratic leaders also think the governor might have temporarily eliminated the state Controlling Board which approves special appropriations and authorizes state agencies to waive competitive bidding in certain circumstances.

Other gubernatorial vetoes targeted were:

- $1.8 million to fund a new Ohio Rail Transportation Authority, which, ironically, was created by legislation signed by the governor last Friday.
- A section creating legislative committees to study mental health and

Court Nixes Advertising Challenge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A challenge to utility advertising practices intended to increase electrical consumption was dismissed Wednesday by the Supreme Court.

The court dismissed an appeal filed by the Ohio Public Interest Action Group, which attempted to end utility advertising. The court's unanimous decision affirmed a Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) decision.

The court said a new law passed by the General Assembly barred the group's challenge. The law forbids the PUCO from adopting regulations restricting utility advertising.

The decision did not deal with the merits of the advertising itself.

The case resulted from a complaint filed by the group in 1972 asking the PUCO to prohibit the state's seven electrical utility companies from using advertising and promotional practices designed to encourage the use of electrical power.

After receiving the complaint, the PUCO began its own investigation of utility promotion practices.

While that investigation was under way, the legislature passed the new law, providing that "no state agency, board or commission shall limit or restrict the right of any public utility to engage in and promote area development or to advertise . . ."

The PUCO, acting under that law, ended its own investigation and dismissed the complaint against the utilities. The Public Action Group appealed that decision.

In other action Wednesday, the court suspended Dayton attorney John R. Radabaugh from the practice of law for misconduct.

The court acted upon a complaint filed by the Dayton Bar Association. Radabaugh was convicted in federal court of failure to file income tax returns for 1970 and 1971.

Lima State Chief Seeks Changes

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lima State Hospital Supt. William Balson says he is trying to change the image of the facility from a "dumping ground for mentally ill offenders" to one dedicated to becoming a leader in forensic psychiatry.

One step toward that goal, he said Wednesday, is a recruitment drive under way to obtain additional qualified physicians, nurses and other staff members.

In an effort to keep people informed about activities at the hospital, he said it will be open to the press and public.

Rail Settlement Said Near; Postal Talks 'Serious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A settlement was reported near in the labor dispute that threatens to shut down the nation's railroads while tough bargaining still lay ahead in the Postal Service talks.

A marathon railroad bargaining session began Wednesday night and continued into the daylight hours today.

Negotiators for the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the nation's major railroads indicated they were close to agreement. The chief federal mediator, W. J. Usery Jr., assisted in the talks.

"We're together on almost everything," said union President C. L. Dennis. The industry's chief negotiator, William Dempsey, also said "significant progress" was made toward a settlement of the long dispute.

Dennis told newsmen the final issues involving the way of an agreement involved cost-of-living wage increases, vacations for low seniority workers and adjustments in health and welfare benefits.

Otherwise, he indicated the 117,000-member union was prepared to embrace basically the same three-year "pattern" agreement signed earlier by several other railway unions which provided for a 41 per cent hike in wages and benefits.

The Ford administration urged the negotiators to reach a settlement by midweek or face the prospect of congressional intervention in the dispute.

The union had set a deadline of 12:01 a.m. Monday for a nationwide strike.

Federal mediators were anxious to resolve the railroad dispute in order to devote full attention to negotiations for 600,000 postal workers whose contract expires at midnight Sunday. The postal workers also have threatened to walk out at that time.

Usery, who held a private four-hour meeting Wednesday with Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar, said today's session "would be one of the most serious" in the postal negotiations which began in mid-April.

Today "will determine whether the pieces go together," Usery added. "I hope they will."

The chief postal negotiator, Darrell Brown, said that while "some very critical issues remain," he was hopeful of reaching "a mutually satisfactory agreement with the four unions representing letter carriers, clerks and mail handlers."

'Sunshine' Bill Given Beefing Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House committee voted early today to beef up slightly a bill requiring state and local agencies in Ohio to conduct their business in meetings open to newsmen and the public.

However, the House State Government Committee, after long debate, voted 10-3 to exclude members of the General Assembly from the bill's provisions on constitutional grounds.

One member, Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, said he would sponsor a constitutional amendment separately to spell out a requirement for open legislative meetings.

Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-57 Youngstown, who is handling the measure in the lower chamber for Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, objected to an amendment that would have included legislators in the bill.

Gilmartin and others pointed to constitutional language that spells out the right of the General Assembly to adopt rules under which they may close meetings. It states that either chamber or their committees may go into executive session by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

"I've been told that to include the legislature in this bill would be unconstitutional. I agree that they should be in it, but this is not the time and place," the veteran Mahoning County lawmaker said.

Rep. Don S. Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, said he disagreed with the interpretation of the constitution, adding "we have as much right to interpret the constitution as any court. But it might not have as much weight."

Ruppert Asks New Trial

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A motion for a new trial has been filed for James U. Ruppert, who was sentenced Monday to 11 consecutive life terms in prison in the deaths of 11 relatives.

Attorneys for the 41-year-old Ruppert, convicted of aggravated murder in the shooting deaths of 11 members of his family on Easter Sunday, filed the motion Wednesday in Butler County Common Pleas Court.

In the affidavits, defense lawyers Hugh Holbrook and H.J. Bressler claimed that the defendant had been told that by waiving his right to trial by jury, a three-judge panel would have to arrive at a unanimous verdict to find him guilty.

Ruppert subsequently waived the jury trial and pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, but the panel of judges convicted the unemployed draftsman by a 2-1 vote.

The presiding judge at the 10-day trial who dissented in the guilty verdict, Fred B. Cramer, explained at the sentencing that the death penalty asked for by the prosecutors was precluded by a lack of agreement among the judges that no mitigating circumstances were involved in the case.

Office Workers Seek Lost Snake

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Office workers in the Stouffer Building here are opening their doors carefully nowadays...a boa constrictor might be on the other side.

The 4½ foot boa constrictor was lost in the building Tuesday and has eluded a 10-man search team ever since.

The snake disappeared after its owner Monica Huszai, 19, a secretary, brought the snake and its mate to let her friends see them.

Her boss wouldn't let her keep the snakes in her office, so she took them to another office where one slithered out of the box. Miss Huszai said she likes snakes because they're clean, they don't bark and they're the center of attention.

The 4½ foot boa constrictor was lost in the building Tuesday and has eluded a 10-man search team ever since.

The snake disappeared after its owner Monica Huszar, 19, a secretary, brought the snake and its mate to let her friends see them.

Her boss wouldn't let her keep the snakes in her office, so she took them to another office where one slithered out of the box. Miss Huszar said she likes snakes because they're clean, they don't bark and they're the center of attention.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Don't get caught in the middle of a dispute between associates. In fact, try to stay out of involvements with others completely.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): By no means, discount the "little" things, for through these you can often attain your most worthwhile achievements. Study new trends, suggestions; be practical.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your individual touch, the right word at the right moment could mean the difference between a so-so day and a topflight one. Many opportunities for advancement.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You are not always sure how others regard you. This could interfere with the presentation of your case of wares. A confident attitude is the answer.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Many new interests indicated. Be ready to grasp every worthwhile cue and lead. The things you do on this day will influence your tomorrows.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't trust to guesswork nor be lax in situations which require security treatment. A better day than you may anticipate if you are in there pitching.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some unexpected situations could throw you "off base," cause confusion or misunderstanding. Be alert. Also, avoid impulsiveness in word or action.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Fine Mars influences now give you a fresh basis for estimating potentials in considering long-range programs. Do make the most of them!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Routine matters may give most concern. Employ "tried and true" methods in areas where you must act but have little to go on for reference.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Avoid a tendency toward wishful thinking. Realism and objectivity needed in all situations. Optimism, too!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be sure before you undertake any new venture, but do not doubt your ability to handle one. Just be certain of facts and be guided by logic.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You will have less opposition in certain areas than you expect. Take the bit by the teeth; put beliefs, intuitive ideas actively to work.

YOU BORN TODAY are a true intellectual and extremely conservative in all your attitudes and approaches. You have tremendous capabilities — especially in organization or executive management — but your tendencies toward stubbornness and a dictatorial manner could alienate your associates and make you a most unpopular supervisor unless you learn to control them. Connors Battling Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fidgety Jimmy Connors won't work out for a while as doctors try to decide how best to treat an injury that slowed the acknowledged king of men's tennis during the recent Wimbledon championships.

A UCLA orthopedic surgeon confirmed Wednesday that Connors was suffering from a painful injury in his lower right leg when he lost the Wimbledon singles title to Arthur Ashe. And Connors' personal physician said Connors would be idle, although itching to play, while the injury was being watched.

Dr. Andrea Cracchiolo, the orthopedic specialist, said Connors' problem was a chronic anterior compartment syndrome, "which can cause from moderate pain to such severe pain and swelling that surgery is required."

Later, Dr. Earl Woods said the injury "was diagnosed in London. I confirmed it and then so did Dr. Cracchiolo. They (doctors in London) felt surgery was going to be necessary and of course that was frightening. We are making all the tests and we plan to treat it symptomatically. "That means not even a cast at this time, just rest." He said Connors would see Dr. Cracchiolo Friday when a further examination would determine the next course of action.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Public TV, which hasn't joined its commercial cousins in covering the Apollo-Soyuz flight, jumps into the space pool tonight with a two-hour examination of what space technology has achieved.

Called "Space for Man?," half the show is an American project, with discussions of space programs by such experts as Sen. John H. Glenn Jr., D-Ohio, the first American to orbit the earth.

The other half is an unique international effort consisting of film reports from at least 20 countries on how space research has helped man on earth and what space projects the future may bring.

This segment was coproduced by America's National Public Affairs Center for Television — NPACT — the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. — CBC — and the European Broadcasting Union — EBU.

Russia, which on Tuesday broadcast live TV coverage of its Soyuz launch to the world, was to have contributed to the program.

"But that now appears a very dim possibility," says NPACT's Al Vecchione, executive producer of NPACT's segments in the show.

The reason: No Soviet film has been sent in yet. It seems odd, considering Russia's unprecedented live TV coverage of one of its space shots and its rare help to newsmen before and during the Soyuz flight.

Vecchione, who said the international segment of garden in the U.S. was tonight's show will be established in Philadelphia.

distributed to 23 countries, said he initially had set aside 15 minutes for the Russian portion of the show.

Now, he added, that appears out and the international segment, originally planned for 75 minutes, probably will be shaved to 60 minutes and the NPACT discussion segment increased from 45 minutes to an hour.

In other space matters, ABC, NBC and CBS say they aren't planning live TV coverage of the Friday afternoon press conference the Apollo and Soyuz crews will hold in space. They'll tape it for their regular evening news shows.

However, ABC says it's still planning live coverage of the crews' farewell ceremonies from 4:30 to 5 p.m. EDT; NPACT — the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. — CBC — and the European Broadcasting Union — EBU.

Wasn't Free
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Off-duty bus driver Gert Venter came across a stalled double-decker city bus and got it going.

He and some friends enjoyed what they thought was a free ride through the streets until the vehicle hit a tree.

It cost Venter $298. A Johannesburg court ordered him to pay the amount off in monthly installments to the Johannesburg City Council for damage to the bus.

In 1874 the first zoological garden in the U.S. was established in Philadelphia.

Carol Mann Favored In Tourney

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Carol Mann has been a hot golfer in recent months and that's what worried her as she prepared for today's start of the 72-hole U.S. Women's Open Championship at the Atlantic City Country Club.

Miss Mann had won twice and been third or better three times, vaulting into third place on the Ladies' Professional Golf Association money winning list with earnings of $45,790.

Miss Mann, a winner in Columbus last week, was concerned she might be overconfident.

"Coming into the Open with a victory I think is very important, but because of I have to guard against overconfidence and too much momentum," Miss Mann explained.

"I don't want to get too up," added the LPGA president.

The 6-foot-3 Miss Mann pointed out that she isn't the only player in the Open with momentum.

"Don't overlook Jo Anne Carner or Sandra Haynie or Judy Rankin," Miss Mann said after a practice round on the 6,165-yard, par-72 course.

"Carner has on three times and she has won five National Amateur titles on courses like this," Miss Mann said.

"Haynie is always among the top five, and Rankin has six secondplace finishes and she's looking to win."

Bias Banned At Gas Pump

NEW YORK (AP) — In the event of another gasoline shortage, gas stations giving preferential treatment to regular customers would be violating the law, reports National Petroleum News.

The U.S. Supreme Court, the publication notes, recently upheld the Federal Energy Administration's position that it has the authority to ban favoritism.

The Dutch West India Co. sent out Dutch families to establish the settlement of New Amsterdam in 1624 and it became New York in 1664.

Mosquito Hitchhikes Into Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — American astronauts reported a space "hitchhiker" in their Apollo module, expressed their exhilaration at rocketing out of earth's atmosphere and spoke their first words of Russian in space.

The light chatter of the three U.S. crewmen in the Apollo-Soyuz Test Project began soon after they were launched from Cape Canaveral on Tuesday afternoon.

If there was wit aboard the Apollo's international space sister, the Soviet Soyuz, it didn't come through in voice translations of Soyuz-Moscow mission control conversations.

For the first time, newsmen and others outside the Soviet Union heard live exchanges between cosmonauts and their ground communicators. There will be an historic face-to-face conversation Thursday when Apollo Commander Thomas Stafford greets Soyuz commander Alexei Leonov in the Apollo-Soyuz linkup.

There was an apparent low profile by the cosmonauts, who discussed technical matters. Not so aboard the Apollo. That is, not always so.

About 3 1/2 hours after Apollo blasted into orbit, an astronaut reported a "hitchhiker" aboard. The conversation went like this:

Apollo: We wanted you to report to the Cape they put a hitchhiker aboard. Mission control: Okay.

Apollo: We found a super Florida mosquito flying around here. Mission control: Laughter. Okay. Maybe you could think of a new experiment to do with him.

Apollo: I'm going to feed him to our fish. Mission control: Okay.

The fish the astronaut referred to is a killifish, a tropical fish sometimes used in mosquito control projects. The fish is to be used in an experiment later in the flight.

Earlier, Stafford used Russian for a report to mission control — "Mee nahodimsia na orbite (We are in orbit)."

American astronauts allowed their enthusiasm to show through during a brief exchange with mission control at the conclusion of what had been a strictly technical exchange.

"When we've got a little minute here we can't help but ask how Vance, (Brand) and Deke (Slayton) are both liking the zero g," said capsule communicator Dick Truly, an astronaut himself, referring to the weightlessness of space.

Slayton replied, "Super event. Can't believe it. Really savoring every event up here, Dick, it's really great."

"Sounds like fun. Wish I was there," Truly replied.

"You bet. So do we," Slayton said.

Carol Mann Favored In Tourney

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Carol Mann has been a hot golfer in recent months and that's what worried her as she prepared for today's start of the 72-hole U.S. Women's Open Championship at the Atlantic City Country Club.

Miss Mann had won twice and been third or better three times, vaulting into third place on the Ladies' Professional Golf Association money winning list with earnings of $45,790.

Miss Mann, a winner in Columbus last week, was concerned she might be overconfident.

"Coming into the Open with a victory I think is very important, but because of it I have to guard against overconfidence and too much momentum," Miss Mann explained.

"I don't want to get too up," added the LPGA president.

The 6-foot-3 Miss Mann pointed out that she isn't the only player in the Open with momentum.

"Don't overlook Jo Anne Carner or Sandra Haynie or Judy Rankin," Miss Mann said after a practice round on the 6,165-yard, par-72 course.

"Carner has on three times and she has won five National Amateur titles on courses like this," Miss Mann said.

"Haynie is always among the top five, and Rankin has six secondplace finishes and she's looking to win."

Bias Banned

At Gas Pump

NEW YORK (AP) — In the event of another gasoline shortage, gas stations giving preferential treatment to regular customers would be violating the law, reports National Petroleum News.

The U.S. Supreme Court, recently upheld the Federal Energy Administration's position that it has the authority to ban favoritism.

The Dutch West India Co. sent out Dutch families to establish the settlement of New Amsterdam in 1624 and it became New York in 1664.

Clearcreek Fire Fighters Finish Class

Twenty-four Clearcreek Twp. firemen received certificates for completing 36 hours of instruction in fire fighting skills and techniques at the close of the last class period.

Individual cards were presented to each man completing the training. A department certificate was presented to Chief William Martin by Lt. Robert Featheringham of Harrison Twp. F. D. in Ashville.

The certificates and cards as well as the instruction, were authorized and made available by the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the State Department of Education, in cooperation with Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education.

The instructor, Lt. Robert Featheringham presented the members of the class for their community spirit in improving their efficiency in fighting fires.

Lt. Featheringham commended the men for their interest in the training and for the cooperation he received. He pointed out that many community fire departments were requesting training and that interest in fire prevention and protection was growing throughout the state.

Fireman Answer Two Calls

The Circleville Fire Department answered two calls Wednesday including a fire at 23 Auto Parts on Route 56 at 11:20 a.m. Apparently one of the employees of the auto parts yard was cutting up an old car with a torch and the car caught on fire.

The second call to the firemen was at 8:45 p.m. A storage shed on the rear of the lot at 411 E. Mill St. was reported burning.

Owner of the property was Lincoln Isaac and the exact cause of the fire was undetermined. Both of Wednesday's fires caused minor damages.

Moundbuilders Kiwanis Meet

J. Max Knisley was the guest speaker at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Moundbuilders Kiwanis Club. Knisley, superintendent of the South Central Juvenile Detention Center, was introduced to the club by Sam Dettra.

The guest speaker discussed the program and staffing of the new juvenile detention center in Chillicothe. The center will be operational in November.

Visiting Kiwanians present were Norman Vinyard, Jim Price, Charles Ried, Wes Barton, Rick Norris, Ray Cundiff, Fred Bower, Bill Rosengarten and the speaker.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Elmer Caldwell, 619 Clinton St., is a surgical patient in Medical Center, Chillicothe.

John D. Smith, Route 1, Stoutsville, is a patient in room 375, Doctors Hospital North, Columbus.

Joseph Cotten Stars At Country Playhouse

MR. AND MRS.—Joseph Cotten and his bride Patricia Medina co-star at the Country Dinner Playhouse this month in the smash comedy hit "The Reluctant Debutante." The play revolves around the London social season.

The Country Dinner Playhouse features Joseph Cotten this month in "The Reluctant Debutante." And, What a feature he is!

Cotten and his real life wife, Patricia Medina, co-star in the production as the parents of a London debutante, played by vivacious Anita Frazier.

The name of the game in the London society is to find the daughter a husband. Jane, the daughter, is not nearly as anxious to be whisked off as her mother is to have her whisked off.

Through the not-too-subtle scheming of her mother, Jane does meet a young man whom she immediately adores. A case of mistaken identity thickens the plot and Mother tries desperately to undo what she has done and Father chuckles in the background.

Cotten, a seasoned actor of the highest caliber, was magnificent in the roll and the only sad part of the whole delightful play is the audience doesn't get nearly enough of his magnificence.

Miss Medina has starred in some 25 films but is probably best-known for her role as a panelist on "What's My Line."

Completing the cast are Joseph Culliton, Bob McFarland, Chris Wilson and Catherine Wright, who all have scads of stage credits.

Nab Fugitive In Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — One of the two men allegedly involved in a shoplifting-abduction incident in Warren County, Ohio early last week has been arrested here, police said.

Warren County Sheriff Roy Wallace said Wednesday extradition would be sought for Calvin Taylor of Lexington, who was identified by deputies as one of the men they arrested in a department store near Middletown, Ohio July 7.

Taylor, along with a man identified as James Relford, who remains at large, allegedly jumped two deputies while being booked for shoplifting, abducted them in a cruiser, jumped out of the cruiser and forced a 16-year-old youth to drive them to Dayton.

Taylor, who was arrested on a fugitive warrant, was identified by two deputies who flew to Lexington. Police said charges filed against the pair include abduction, escape and grand theft.

Ohio Court Legislation Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House has approved three pieces of legislation to update and streamline Ohio court procedures.

By a vote of 91-5, state representatives Wednesday said common pleas court terms should be for a single calendar year, rather than the current three terms during a year.

The House gave 90-4 approval to a measure that would permit common pleas judges to designate a representative to stand in for them at jury drawings.

The current statute requiring judges to attend is a "nuisance for the common pleas judges, especially in single-judge counties," sponsor Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, said.

The House also voted 94-0 to repeal a statute calling for a special drawing of jurors in cases involving possible capital punishment.

Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, the sponsor, said the special drawings were required by an "obsolete section not now being used in most counties."
